New area code coming to town

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON/TEWKSBURY - Get ready to revise that Rolodex. Remember a few years ago when the telephone area codes in Massachusetts changed from "617" to "781" and "508" to "978" and so on?

Beginning September 15, things are going to get a bit trickier.

Peter Bowman, the Regional Director of Verizon Communications, has informed the Wilmington Board of Selectmen that four new area codes will be introduced in Eastern Massachusetts in May of next year. Such additions warrant a change in dialing patterns, and the introductory phase for that change will kick off on September 15.

Says Bowman, "This change is necessary to help meet consumer demand for communications services and the needs of new companies providing local telephone service."

Here's how it is going to go.

One new area code is going to be assigned to each of the area codes already in existence. Area code "857" will be added to the area covered by the code "617." The new code "339" will join the "781" crowd. The code "774" will be added to the "508" region. Finally, "351" will accompany "978."

"This method will avoid the need for current customers to change their telephone numbers," assures Bowman.

COMING TO A CLOSE. Stelio's Restaurant, which has been serving meals to families and hosting functions for businesspeople since 1975, will cook its last breakfast, lunch and dinner this Sunday. The popular Lowell Street eatery has been bought by 99 Restaurants, Inc. in Woburn. (Stu Neilson photo)

After 25 years Stelio's to close

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - On Sunday, September 17, Stelio's Restaurant will serve its final dishes to the families and friends who have helped the popular eatery prosper for 25 years.

"We just felt it was time," says owner and manager Bob Katsikis.

This week Stelio's was purchased by the popular 99 Restaurant chain. The company, which is known for its casual, family-oriented atmosphere, plans to turn Stelio's into a 99 Restaurant in the future.

Stelio's Restaurant has been a popular spot with families and locals and businesspeople who sought a friendly atmosphere and reliable service and tasty meals.

Dolly Calo, an Andover resident who had worked as a waitress at Stelio's since its opening day in 1975, feels strongly about the beloved eater closing down.

"As far as meeting a lot of families and townspeople, I had a lot of regular customers," says Calo. "I am going to miss them."

Representatives from 99 Restaurants, Inc. in Woburn could not be reached for comment.

According to Katsikis, the vast range of responsibilities that are included with owning and managing a restaurant were a prime factor in deciding to sell Stelio's.

"Running the restaurant has taken away a lot of family time," says Katsikis.

He further states that he and his restaurant are going out on a "high," closing its doors at a time when everybody is feeling "on top."

"When we opened our doors in 1975, we only dreamed that we could sustain a profitable business for a good length of time," says Katsikis. "We are confident that our memories of the last 25 years are good ones, and that (our customers) are an important part of them."

I-93 ramps to open

STAFF REPORTS

WOBURN - It seems life traffic relief in Wilmington will have to wait just a couple of weeks longer.

The new I-93 interchange, which will lead commuters from Route 93 to the industrial park that includes companies Genuity and Target in northeast Woburn, was scheduled to officially open this Friday, September 15. Instead, according to officials, the interchange will be completed at the latest by Sunday, October 1.

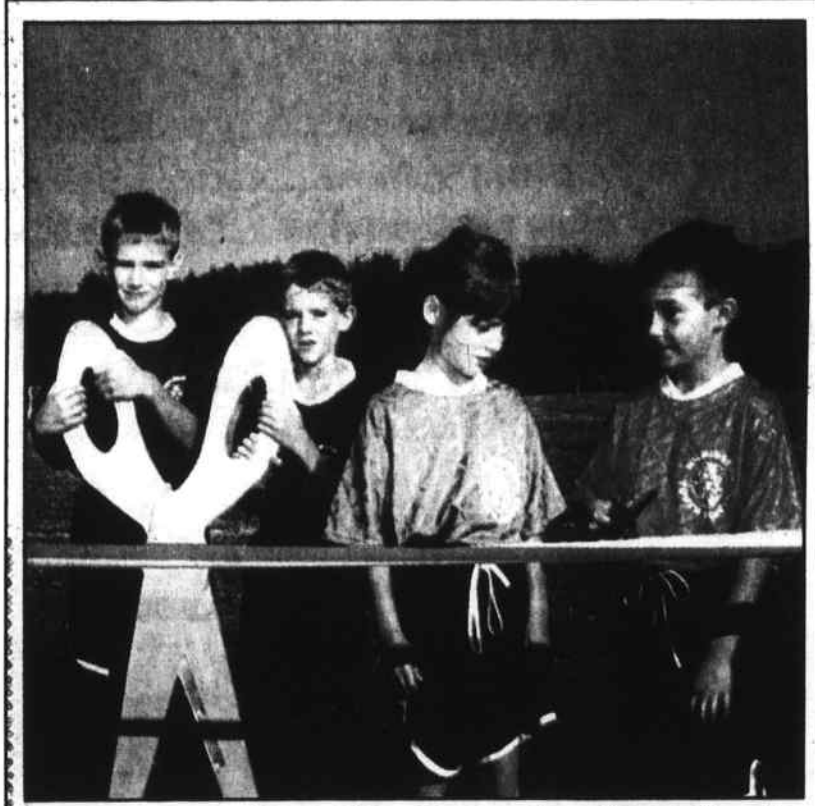

The opening of the interchange is good news to anybody who has ever been stuck in the bumper-to-bumper traffic at the intersection of Lowell and Woburn Streets in Wilmington in the morning or late afternoon. The rate of traffic is expected to drop noticeably once commuters to the Woburn industrial park will be able to use the new interchange to come and go more quickly and conveniently. For years now, the beleaguered intersection at Woburn and Lowell Streets has been one of the very few routes available to take to reach the industrial park.

In a related traffic issue that affects Wilmington drivers, the city of Woburn is also working feverishly to complete the intersection at Commerce Way and Atlantic Avenue, which is also near the business-industrial park. At that location, traffic lights still need to be installed and traffic lines still need to be painted.

"We have authorized overtime and other things to expedite the process," says Woburn Mayor Robert Dever.

The October 1 deadline to open the new interchange will be cutting it a bit close in some respects. The Target Department Store that has been built in the business-industrial complex is

New equipment on the way Police receive bureau grants

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Speeders beware.

The Wilmington Police Department has received $61,796 in the form of three separate Local Law Enforcement Block Grants from the Bureau of Justice Assistance in Washington, D.C.

During a public hearing that was held during the September 11 Board of Selectmen meeting, Officer Scott Sencabaugh presented the list of equipment that the police department plans to purchase with the grant money. The items are as follows:

- One speed monitor trailer at $13,190.

- Two Decatur dashmount radar units valued at $4,490.

- Three Decatur handheld radars priced at $3,750.

- Thirty-seven Motorola portable radios with programming software, all of which would have a total price tag of $40,366.

While the proposed purchases of all pieces of equipment were greeted by the board with support, Selectman James Rooney was particularly enthusiastic about the speed monitor trailer.

"I would support the purchase of a second trailer," said Rooney. "I don't think people realize how fast they're going when they're in their cars."

Speed trailers are those large-screen monitors positioned on the side of the road. As you approach them, a digital read-out informs you about the speed at which you are driving. The devices have been instrumental in getting drivers to ease their feet on the gas pedal. The machines have also proven resourceful for authorities to gauge the ranges of speeds being driven on given roads.

"When you're driving down the street and you see one of these trailers, they do cause you to look down at your speedometer and see how fast you're going," says Officer Sencabaugh. "When it comes to traffic enforcement, these trailers are an educational tool to use to advise people about the law."

Historical Commission proposes Spanos memorial

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Lifelong residents in Wilmington soon may have a place to go and fondly remember a man who ranks among the most beloved townspeople this community has ever known.

It has recently come to the attention of the Wilmington Historical Commission that there may possibly be room at the new MBTA parking lot to establish a historical monument.

Local historian, photographer and author Gerry O'Reilly, working with the support of various veterans organizations, has proposed that the monument be a memorial dedicated to George Spanos.

Chairperson Carolyn Harris and her fellow members on the Historical Commission also strongly feel that a memorial dedicated to Spanos is the perfect choice.

Naturally, many people in town agree.

At the September 11 Selectmen meeting, Town Manager Michael Caira shared with the board a letter that was sent to him by Harris. The letter expressed the Historical Commission's interest in working with the Selectmen to request to the MBTA that the Spanos memorial be allowed at the lot. The property is under the MBTA's jurisdiction.

Selectmen Chairman Michael Newhouse agreed that a letter should be sent to the MBTA to communicate just how important such a good idea would be to the people of Wilmington.

George Spanos, who passed away at age 76 in 1965, figures memorably in the minds of those who grew up in the 1940s and 1950s.

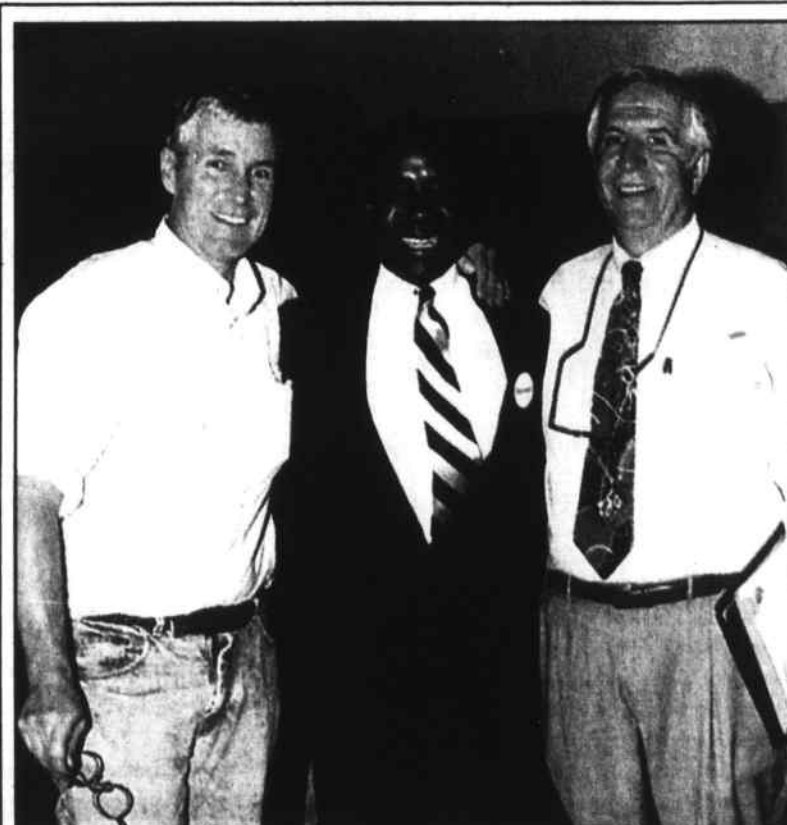

Many folks fondly remember him as the "unofficial Mayor of Wilmington." He did a lot in the

DIVORCE AND YOUR BUSINESS

As if divorce weren't difficult enough, what happens if a business is the most valuable asset to be divided up?

Best protection is probably a valid prenuptial agreement that makes the business the property of the owner-spouse, even if the other one works in it, too. Ownership also can be preserved with restrictions on transferability. If both partners own the business, there needs to be a written agreement—perhaps in the partnership agreement itself—on what happens in case of a divorce.

Without preplanning, all or some of the business may be considered a marital asset to be shared. Some states require an in-kind distribution, a percentage of the business. If this isn't practical or legal, then the spouse will get a distributive award, often in installments. (The installments are a nontaxable property settlement; the interest on them is taxable income.) This arrangement may have a downside risk for the non-owner spouse.

When big changes have dollars-and-cents elements, it's smart to add a money professional to your team. Talk to us at

September 20 named "Undoing Racism Day"

Nine years ago I was getting ready to fly down to Tallahassee to spend my sophomore year of college at Florida State University. At that point in my young life I did not know much about the world beyond the predominantly Franco-American borders of southern Maine.

One day, as I was working the night shift at a supermarket, I had a customer who came through my checkout line. She was a sociable individual who told me a few things about her day and asked me a few questions about mine. Inevitably, my weeks-away trip to Florida came into our conversation.

It was at this point in our short small-talk that something disheartening occurred. Rather than ask me if I was a Seminole or tell me to make sure that I came back in the spring with a tan, the customer instead warned me about the black people that I would encounter down south. I was told not to trust them.

This "friendly" advice wasn't issued to me with pursed lips, cautious eyes, and a stern expression. Instead, the words were passed on to me with the same gentle, sociable smile that accompanies many of the passive forms of racism that exist. Little did the customer know, weeks later I would be taking an African-American literature course, exploring the lives of blacks, not avoiding them.

It is nine years later, and in the time since that warning was issued to me we have seen the beating of Rodney King, survived the O.J. Simpson trial, and experienced the shock and the heartbreak of the man down in Texas who in 1998 was dragged miles by a truck because the color of his skin did not match that of the driver at the wheel. Such incidents figured prominently in the news and in race relations throughout the 1990s.

It is now the year 2000, though, and the Wilmington Board of Selectmen has declared Wednesday, September 20 to be "Undoing Racism Day." Such a day could prove instrumental in answering certain questions as to what we can do to treat each other with more fairness and equality.

The intent of the day, as detailed in the proclamation signed by Selectmen Chairman Michael Newhouse during Monday night's selectmen meeting, is to "reaffirm our commitment to ensure equality and freedom for all the people, regardless of their race, religion, sexual preference, or gender."

On September 20, the residents of Wilmington will have an opportunity to demonstrate a certain leadership that it has exercised before. In 1779, nearly 80 years before our nation was divided by the Civil War, the community of Wilmington led the Commonwealth by becoming the first town in the state to free the slaves. It was a decision established at the annual Town Meeting held on March 3 of that year.

There exists in all of us enough differences to distinguish ourselves from one another, whether it be the faith of our religion, our gender, our points of view, the lifestyles that we choose, or the color of our skin. We seem to have no problem celebrating the uniqueness in ourselves, a fact made evident by the holidays that we celebrate, the religious services that we attend, or the culture and ancestry that we embrace. The harder part, the part that we are invited to analyze and improve upon on September 20, is sometimes remembering and respecting that the people around us feel the same way about their lives, as well.

The Board of Selectmen is to be applauded for working with other communities throughout the nation to declare September 20 "Undoing Racism Day." To make the day a success, though, the hard work must come from within ourselves.

Kennedy speaks out on Patients' Rights

By Senator Edward M. Kennedy

As we enter the home stretch of this Congress, there's a good chance that the Senate and the House of Representatives can complete action on the Patients' Bill of Rights. People in Massachusetts and across America have waited more than three years for Congress to send a bill to the President to protect patients and hold HMOs and other health plans more accountable for their actions. Three years is too long to wait.

Every day that Congress fails to act, more patients suffer. 60,000 more patients endure added pain and suffering, and 40,000 other Americans have their condition worsened as a result of HMO abuses. The Patients' Bill of Rights will halt this victimization. Too often, managed care is mis-managed care. Congress should stop protecting HMO profits and start protecting patients' health.

Last year, the House of Representatives approved strong bipartisan legislation to give patients the rights they need and deserve. The bill is supported by 300 groups of doctors, nurses, patients, and advocates for women, children and families, and it has been endorsed by virtually every medical group in the country. Despite the broad bipartisan support it received in the House, it has been blocked in the Senate by the refusal of the Republican leadership to crack down on HMOs.

Instead, the Republican leaders have proposed watered-down alternatives that fall far short of the steps required to give patients the protection they need. The GOP alternatives offer only drastically limited protections, and gaping loopholes in current federal law that allows health plans to escape responsibility for irresponsible decisions that cause the injury or death of a patient. The result is that vast numbers of patients are second-class citizens with second-class rights.

What's needed is a genuine Patients' Bill of Rights that establishes basic protections for all patients - including coverage for emergency care at the nearest hospital, access to needed specialty care, access by women to obstetrical care and gynecological care, coverage for at least routine costs of life-saving clinical trials, and prohibition for improper HMO financial incentives and so-called "gag" clauses that prevent physicians from disclosing expensive treatment options to patients. The reform should also establish a fair, prompt, and independent appeal process for all decisions involving medical judgments, and health plans should be held liable in cases where patients are injured or killed by HMO abuses.

The American people deserve action before this Congress ends. The Patients' Bill of Rights is one of the most important issues currently facing the nation. Enactment of a strong effective bipartisan legislation is still possible this year.

Letters To The Editor

Peterson thankful for Korean War story

Dear Editor:

I just read a letter to the editor in the September 6, 2000 issue of the Town Crier that was written by Will Whalen, formerly of Taplin Avenue. He spoke of the impact that the Korean War draft in 1952 had on the community, particularly on the seven men chosen from Wilmington to serve their country during this time. One of those seven men was my uncle, Richard "Buddy" Pilcher, from Brand Avenue, that he mentioned in his letter.

I wanted to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Whalen for sharing his memories of this period. Without the help and resources that have been made available to me, such as stories like Mr. Whalen's, I'd never know that my Uncle Buddy was drafted. I knew that he served in the US Army during the Korean War, but I thought he enlisted by choice and joined the Army to be different from his older brothers and from the generations of Pilcher men before him who traditionally went into the Navy. I would love to see those articles from the Wilmington Crusader that speak of this event, as I have so little research on Bud's military career.

I wish I had known this during the time that I was involved in the Wilmington Veterans of War exhibit that was at the Town Museum from May to July, 2000. That exhibit focused more on my other uncles, his brothers Stephen "Sonny" Pilcher (died in a plane crash in Wilmington while flying tactical maneuvers for the Navy, at 22 years of age, in 1946) and Charles Robert "Bobby" Pilcher (a career US Navy officer, he retired as Lt. Commander, his last commission being the USS Grapple).

Mr. Whalen, if you are reading this letter, I'd like to tell you some of what I do know about my Uncle Buddy. He settled in Wilmington, but he also lived in New Hampshire for the last years of his life. He married Marilyn Lynch (the Lynch family is also from Wilmington), made a home on Middlesex Avenue and had five children. The last time I saw and talked with him was at St. Thomas Church in 1994. He had been sick for some time, but was positive about life, nevertheless. Sadly, he passed away in 1998, at the age of 66.

Mr. Whalen, thank you so very much for sharing your story, as you said it best at the end of your letter "... there are dozens of stories like this waiting to be told". These stories, and the combined efforts of many good people from this town, have made it possible for me to rediscovers my family and bring us closer together. I can only be eternally grateful and express my heartfelt appreciation to all of you who have helped me - thank you!

Sincerely,
Tracey A. Peterson

The effect of vandalism

I was saddened to read the caption regarding the vandalism at Silver Lake Park on the front page of the September 6, 2000 edition of the Town Crier.

I wholeheartedly agree with your comments that it is an absolute shame that something such as this would occur.

My wife and I often take our two children there, and they have spent numerous hours entertaining themselves there.

Your photographer happened to catch them during one of these numerous times, hence your front page photo of my wife and youngest daughter. If you would like to add names for the record, they are Cyndee and Nicole Peluso.

Best regards,
Jim Peluso

Jerry Lewis appreciates MDA donors

Dear Editor:

I knew we could count on the wonderful folks of Wilmington! Thank you for helping the Jerry Lewis MDA Telethon raise a record $54,610,289 in pledges and contributions.

Hundreds of celebrities and nearly a million volunteers worked Labor Day weekend to help "my kids." Yet, all our hats are off to you Wilmington residents for phoning in pledges to the Telethon on WCVB-TV, for supporting firefighter "Fill the Boot" drives and other local MDA events. Your caring gives tremendous support to children and adults in Massachusetts and to families across the country.

Thanks to you, MDA maintains 230 clinics at Massachusetts General Hospital, at the New England Medical Center Hospital, at Brigham & Women's Hospital, at Children's Hospital, all in Boston, as well as MDA clinics in Burlington, at Tobey Hospital in Wareham, and the University of Massachusetts Medical Center and St. Vincent Hospital, both in Worcester. These havens of help are staffed by top medical experts dedicated to giving life-enhancing care to people challenged by muscle-wasting diseases.

Sincerely,
Jerry Lewis
MDA National Chairman

Pleasure Island, meet Memory Lane

Attention Boys and Girls:
Have any memories of Pleasure Island to share?

Pleasure Island Amusement Park first opened in Wakefield, Massachusetts in June 22, 1959 for an anticipated 1.2 million visitors that first season. Ten years later, Waldman-Dick Real Estate bought the property and tried to turn it into a carnival-like amusement park. That was Pleasure Island's last summer.

A group of us are planning a Pleasure Island Reunion and searching for Pleasure Island home movies, souvenirs, memorabilia, advertisements, maps, photos... anything that will help us recreate its history.

Plans for remembering Pleasure Island have grown to include a video oral history production, a display for the library, and a reunion of people with fond memories of the park. We have a web site at <http://www.wakefieldonline.com>, an email address (pleasureisland@wakefield.org), and an email group -- pleasureisland@groups.com.

We hope to offer replicas of souvenirs, reunion T-shirts, walking tours, displays, and the video production for sale in support of the Wakefield High School's Marching Band trip to New Orleans in May of 2001.

If you have any Pleasure Island materials and memories to share, please consider loaning them to our committee for display or donating them to the Wakefield Historical Society. No historical materials will be sold.

Please call Mary Kay Galvin at 781-245-4466 or beep me out at 781-845-2936.

We intend to have a "whale of a time" on this project.

Medford Bank to sponsor free home buying seminar

MEDFORD - Medford Bank will sponsor a free home buying seminar for area residents which is offered through Reading Adult Education. This informative seminar will be represented in its entirety on Tuesday, October 17 from 7 to 9 p.m. at Reading High School on Oakland Street. The event is free to anyone who would like information on the home buying process.

Roger Currie, a mortgage representative from Medford Bank will speak on "The Mortgage Process." In addition, Meg Michaels from Re/Max Top Achievers will speak about "Selecting and Buying a Home." Other topics will include "The Home Inspection" by John Ward, a professional home inspector, and Attorney Chris Coleman will present a workshop, "Legal Issues in the Home Buying Process." Medford Bank will also offer each attendee a free mortgage pre-approval which is essential in today's housing market. In addition to giving the buyer a clear idea of what one can afford, pre-approval gives the buyer the opportunity to close fast. This is a definite advantage in an active housing market where the bidding process moves quickly.

Free admission, a free mortgage approval and informative speakers who will answer all questions, are only a few of the reasons that make this seminar a great resource for anyone who is considering buying a home. The seminar is free and open to the public. To reserve your place or for more information, call Reading Adult Education at 781-942-9136, or Roger Currie at Medford Bank, 781-393-1503.

George Spanos

George Spanos "The Noble Greek"

by CAPT. NEILSON

George Spanos, for many years a Wilmington restaurateur, died in 1967. He was a well known resident of Wilmington, a man who had acquired several nick-names, all in friendship.

Born in Salonika, Greece, in 1889, George had first lived in Wilmington about 1912. His home was on Glen Road, near where a path went through the woods to School Street, a path which became known as Drury Lane. The home he built still stands. Various subsequent owners have added to the structure.

It is said that George was a married man, but the wedding did not take place in Wilmington. He did have a small food store, near the foot of School Street, in years before World War II.

Some time before World War II George transferred his business to what had been a hay and grain store, in what is now called Wilmington Square. His restaurant was beside the entrance to the Wilmington railroad station. The building to which he moved had been the property of the Buck Brothers, a North Wilmington store, and was operated by George Buck. George Buck sold his hay and grain out through the back door.

George Spanos lived upstairs, and all day long worked in his restaurant. It was not the only restaurant in Wilmington Square. Arthur Hamilton had one near the railroad station, which was later transferred across Main Street and had the name of Huntley's Diner.

But, after the time of Pearl Harbor George Spanos, by reason of his locale, and by reason of his friendly attitude to every person who entered his restaurant had a friendship with people who rode to Boston on the B&M Rail Road. Nearly every young man who was clad in Army khaki or Navy blue stopped into George's as he was about to leave for duty.

George Spanos began to collect pictures of the persons who left, some female, but mostly male. His sphere included many from Tewksbury, a town without a railroad station.

Those pictures were posted on the wall of the restaurant. At the end of the war, there were large picture frames on that wall. It would take an hour or two to inspect them all.

Someone, unknown to this writer, made the frames. A few frames were devoted to larger pictures, about a dozen. Many held over 100 and some had many more than that.

It wasn't just the boys and girls who were leaving who called on George. Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers called, every time she visited Wilmington.

Those pictures, on the walls of George's Restaurant gave the town good reason for a lot of self respect. The people had nothing but friendship and respect for "His Honor," "The Noble Greek" and "The Mayor of Wilmington."

After the war was over George's Restaurant became the gathering spot for the Wilmington Skating Club, on its annual trips to Boston Garden and the skating rinks.

Eleven hundred passengers would go into Boston on a Sunday morning, with His Honor being one. They would fill some of the upper rows, in the Boston Garden, as they cheered the Wilmington skaters in the competitions.

And George's voice would be the loudest.

In his later years, after he had stopped working, George promoted the Wilmington High School football team. He "presided" better describes it, and he did it from his wheelchair.

In Memory of Chester A. Bruce

Dad,
Wish you were here
You could sit in your favorite chair
Mom would be able to bake her special birthday cake
We would all gather 'round and sing, oh what a sound!
Then you could make a wish and open all your gifts
But instead on your 65th birthday
we can only pray that you know how much we miss giving you a birthday kiss

COMING TO TERMS WITH LIFE

There is hardly a game, a project, or other endeavor in life that goes on with no end. So, why is it that we find it so hard to accept the end of life itself? Is it the one thing that is exempt from finality? Etty Hillesum talked about accepting the inevitability of death when she wrote, "By 'coming to terms with life' I mean: the reality of death has become a definite part of my life; my life has, so to speak, been extended by death, by my looking death in the eye and accepting it, by accepting destruction as part of life and no longer wasting my energies on fear of death or the refusal to acknowledge its inevitability."

During life, we plan for many future events. We set up accounts to pay for our children's education, we save for our retirement, and it makes sense to pre-plan funerals. At FARMER & DEE FUNERAL HOME, we understand that this can be a difficult task. However, it becomes even more difficult for the surviving loved ones to complete the arrangements while dealing with their own sorrow. HEAR YE! HEAR YE! Michael Kean-Price the Town Crier of Tewkesbury, England was visiting Tewksbury, Massachusetts over the weekend. He was the guest, yes, you guessed it, of the Tewksbury Town Crier newspaper. It was his pleasure to "Read the Riot Act" to some colonial rabble who were refusing to doff their hats to the King. He threatened, cajoled and offered bribes, all to no avail. A battle ensued as the King's 47th Regiment of Foot charged into the crowd. They were, alas, defeated and sent packing back to the motherland.

That is an eight pound bell, belonging to the Town of Tewkesbury, England. Locally you can purchase a vacuum cleaner that weighs as much. Price claims to be able to shout at 112 decibels, as loud as a jack hammer, or your teen-aged son's stereo. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

Great to see you!

by STU NEILSON

The Homecoming Weekend, "Family Festival 2000," in Tewksbury was a smashing success, from the point of view of this scribe. I was dressed in a new colonial outfit, portraying the Tewksbury Town Crier. I hosted the Tewksbury, England Town Crier and we had a wonderful time talking to all of you, our readers.

It was just grand to see you all.

However, I must point out one minor disappointment. For six weeks, Charlotte Cooper has in these pages urged you to attend the festival. Again, I must point out it was wonderful that so many of you attended. But it was our intent to sell a few subscriptions along the way.

It seems we were VERY successful in getting our readers to attend. It seemed that every other person we spoke to said, "Oh, I read your paper all the time!"

We were preaching to the choir. Our subscribers were all in the audience at Homecoming! It was great to see you!

See you next year!

All in all, all the participants and visitors to Tewksbury's Family Festival 2000 has a wonderful time. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

Art show this weekend

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

TEWKSBURY The Tewksbury Community of Artists presents the Seventh Annual Arts Festival on Friday, September 15, and Saturday the 16th. Over 400 entries from more than 260 Tewksbury resident artists will be displayed at the chapel on the Tewksbury State Hospital grounds.

The festival begins on Friday evening at 7:00 pm.

Presenting their art to the judges will be 37 adults and 8 children; 29 student artists from the Tewksbury Memorial High School; 56 student artists from the Burke School; 26 student artists from the North School; 27 student artists from the Trahan School; 24 students artists from the Heath Brook School; 26 student artists from the Ryan Elementary School; 9 student artists from the Wynn School; and 31 student artists from the Dewing School.

This Friday evening is for invited guests only. The night is reserved for judging the submissions and for the families of the artists to come for tea, coffee, cookies, and cakes. The refreshments will be made by the members and donated for the festival. Judging finishes up at about 8:30pm and the ribbons are placed at that time.

On Saturday, the exhibit is open to the public from 10:00am to 2:00pm for those who wish to see the wide variety of art made by the children and adults of the community.

"This is our seventh year," said Jim Johnson, chairman of the organization. He said that the organization began as an idea from Eileen Griffin about eight years ago and has been improved upon ever since. "We decided to try it, and it seems to be getting better each year."

The organization has four board members: Mr. Johnson; Dennis Bone, ViceChairman; Maryann Johnson, Secretary; Eleanor Corey, Treasurer; Mavis Willegal, Media Person; and Marylou Morris, School Liaison. The membership of the organization numbers 34, and it is fully non-profit.

"Everything is donated," Mr. Johnson said. "We are strictly nonprofit and are not funded by the town. We appreciate all the donations we receive."

"One judge who has been there every year is Jim Miceli," said Mr. Johnson. He said that, in total, there are ten judges.

Representative Miceli, Dan Rogacki, M.J. Marcucci and Agnieszka Sosnowska judge the general artwork. Nancy Kirwin, Shirley Kahler and Joanne Joyce judge the needlework, and Debbie Grund, Pat Cressman and Kay Donahue judge the quilting.

"We're pretty well represented as far as artists go," said Mr.

Johnson.

The art will include painting in oils; acrylic; watercolor; stained glass; photography; pen and ink drawings; pencil sketching; air brushing; sculptures; woodwork; and carving; and many other categories.

Mr. Johnson said that they have over 150 adult entries and about 300 entries from schools. The school entries have already been judged and the winners are sent to this festival.

Mr. Johnson said that it is invaluable to the children to have the opportunity for a second award and that recognition for what you've accomplished is very important in life.

He said that piano player Ray

Lafortune will be on-site to play on Friday evening to play. Mahoney's has donated the numerous flowers and potted plants for decorations, which, to his regret, will be removed at the end of the event. Domino's pizza will donate lunch for the setup volunteers on Friday.

"More than 50% of the artwork shown is shown by repeat artists," Mr. Johnson said. He said that there are rules about showing the pieces and pieces that have won in previous years cannot be reshowed.

The art show has been a great success each year. It is a wonderful opportunity to see first-hand the enormous amount of talent in our community.

Spanos memorial proposed

community to make its military servicemen feel appreciated, and he avidly supported the athletic pursuits of the town's youth.
Town Manager Cairra remembered Spanos most fondly from his days playing baseball in Little League.
"He always gave us chewing gum," Cairra recalled at the meeting. "He was a character."
Sergeant Dan Wandell, who served our country in the military, agreed.
"I'd Wandell. He was great with servicemen. He had a picture of my ship on his wall."

That would be the wall of his restaurant, which was opened to everyone between the war years of 1941 and 1946. Every time a member of the Armed Services dined at his eatery, they would offer him a memento of sorts. Often, those gifts were candid photographs of men and women smiling for the camera in their military uniforms. He hung those pictures in panels that surrounded his restaurant.
Currently, those pictures are part of an exhibit that is one of the primary attractions at the Colonel Joshua Harnden Tavern on Salem Street.

The site on the MBTA lot that has been proposed for the monument marks the exact location where Spanos' Restaurant once stood and served hungry locals and others who just stepped off the train.
As mentioned, Spanos had a strong sense of athletic spirit joined with his obvious American patriotism. When Wilmington was known as the Speed Skating capital of the United States, it was at Spanos' restaurant where the skaters met and hung out. In fact, Spanos was a major force behind what was called the Silver Skates Special, a ten-car train that transported Wilmington fans to the Boston Garden to see their all-star athletes in action.

Of course, the Route 38 location of the upcoming MBTA parking lot has been a hotbed of controversy in Wilmington for quite some time now. Some people favor the presence of the MBTA lot, and others do not. According to Harris, establishing the memorial of George Spanos there would do much to repair the division that the issue has caused between residents in the community.
"I think that honoring one of our own may be a way to heal some wounds that this controversy has caused," Harris expressed in her letter to Cairra.

Towns to receive state aid for the elderly

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON-Representative James R. Miceli (D-Tewksbury/Wilmington) has announced that the councils on aging in the 20th Middlesex District would be receiving Formula Grants distributed by the Executive Office of Elder Affairs. The funding for these grants was allocated in the FY2001 State Budget, which was recently enacted by the legislature and signed by the Governor.

The Town of Tewksbury will be receiving a formula grant in the amount of $18,180.

The Town of Wilmington will be receiving a formula grant in the amount of $11,940.

These awards were calculated according to the municipality's age 60 and over population and were awarded to 342 cities and towns throughout Massachusetts.

The Tewksbury Council on Aging will receive funding for the specific purposes of employing an outreach worker and conducting fitness, recreational and sign language programs. It will also allow for the purchase of a computer system and provide for transportation escorts, volunteer recognition and in-service training.

The Wilmington Council on Aging will receive funding for the specific purposes of employing outreach programs, providing mileage expenses, volunteer recognition, dues and supplies for conference and meeting attendance.

Rep. Miceli said that he would continue to remain dedicated to actively overseeing that the towns of Tewksbury and Wilmington receive the necessary funding for senior programs.

Join "Bookends" the book discussion group at Wilmington Library

WILMINGTON - Book discussion groups offer opportunity for a lively exchange of ideas and social interaction. Bookends, the library's book discussion group, has been meeting at the library since 1994 on the first Thursday of the month. Anyone is welcome to join Bookends at any time.

Last Thursday, Bookends discussed Outlander by Diana Gabaldon. Members gave this book six thumbs up and two thumbs down. The book that will be discussed at the October meeting is Brimstone Wedding by Barbara Vine. The library has copies of this book available at the circulation desk. Other titles that will be discussed at future meetings include:

November, Memoirs of a Geisha; December, Cup of Tea, and January, At Home in Mitford. If you are thinking of trying something new this fall, Bookends is a great choice.

Book of the Week

Author Robert Putnam, in the book Bowling Alone: The Collapse and Revival of American Community provides a thoughtful and well researched commentary on American society in the later third of the twentieth century.

The title of his book Bowling Alone is the metaphor for the premise on which his book is based. He contends that years ago people belonged to bowling leagues (and numerous other social and civic organizations) but today people are more likely to bowl alone. He argues that this trend has disconnected families, neighbors, communities and the country itself. According to Putnam, Americans no longer get involved in civic and community life.

He presents numerous statistics to support his position including the decrease in number of people who vote and run for elected office. Putnam believes that the effects of this civic disengagement have resulted in the loss of "social capital" - a kind of emotional bond that strengthens relationships and communities. Putnam does offer some possible solutions to increase social capital within communities. His analysis of contemporary America living, however, is what makes this book very interesting reading.

Fall decorations

Autumn wreaths on the book stacks, floral arrangements with smiling scarecrows and an arbor of fall leaves give a seasonal look to the library. Thanks to Lynne Barrasso, a member of the Friends of the Library for her time and creative talent.

Thanks also to James Kelley and Larry and Jeanne Doucette for the fresh flowers that brighten the library.

Area codes

After May 1, 2001, customers who order a new service, add an additional phone line to their home or office, or move to Eastern Massachusetts may be assigned one of these new codes.

According to the letter that Bowman sent to the Selectmen, the following conditions will not change:

- Existing telephone numbers will remain the same.
- A local call will still be a local call. A toll call will still be a toll call.
- The 911 emergency service will still be available.
- The "413" area code will stay the same for those dialing out to Western Massachusetts.

Here's what will change. Beginning April 2, 2001, all local calls within Eastern Massachusetts must be dialed using ten-digits. Yes, this means that if you want to call your next-door neighbor to tell him to tell his son to turn his music down, then you will first have to dial "978" or, if they just moved in, "351."

And, yes, it means that you may very well have two different area codes for the two separate phone lines that you may come have in your home.

Beginning September 15, a six-month permissive dialing period begins. All local calls will be able to be dialed with either the familiar seven-digit number or the new ten-digit one.

Bowman offers the following advice:

- Check all of your phones and related equipment. If you have numbers stored on them, then reprogram your phone so that it will dial the ten-digit numbers.
- Get used to these new dialing changes early. It is best to get used to the new switch by dialing ten-digits beginning with your first phone call on September 15.
- If you have any questions, please call 1-877-554-3685 between the hours of 9am and 5pm on Monday through Friday.

By the way, this means that the Town Crier's telephone number will remain at 658-2346, unchanged since the days in the 1950s when it was known simply as "Oliver 8." Of course, now you'll have to dial 978 first.

Francis X. Flaherty candidate for Register of Probate

ARLINGTON - With the theme of "Training, Experience and Ability," long-time Middlesex County resident Francis X. Flaherty announced his candidacy for election as Register of Probate Court in Middlesex County. Flaherty, a Democrat, is married to the former Maureen Gill of Arlington and is the father of three sons, Chip, Peter, and Michael.

In announcing his candidacy,

Flaherty said, "The Register of Probate Court is an extremely important one to the citizens of Middlesex County. The Probate Court affects almost everyone at one time or another, whether it is dealing with adoptions, guardianships, divorces or the administration of estates. The Register of Probate Court is responsible for reviewing the legal documents that are filed, preparation of the files prior to hearing by the judge and overall supervision of all records and probate matters that take place in Middlesex County."

In recent years the Registry has been confronted with numerous problems such as delays in processing paperwork, an outdated filing system, missing files and a lack of security over files, he said. "The citizens of Middlesex County deserve a Registry that is efficient, professional, and accessible," he said. The achievement of such high standards will require the support and leadership of an able administrator and an experienced attorney."

Flaherty's resume demonstrates a background well suited for the Register of Probate position. Flaherty graduated with a degree in economics from Boston College and he went on to earn a J.D. degree from the New England School of Law. Prior to entering private practice, Flaherty was a member of the Massachusetts Defenders Committee. Later, he was responsible for opening and staffing legal services offices in the Boston inner city, providing individuals below the poverty income level with legal representation in civil and family court matters.

Flaherty's professional endeavors have been supplemented with a number of civic and charitable works. He serves as a member of the Advisory Board of Maitland High School, having previously served as Chairman, and has served on the board since 1979. Flaherty served as a trustee of the Insurance and Pension Trust of the Archdiocese of Boston from 1987-1995, overseeing a multi-million dollar budget, and he was a task force member of the Betsy McCandless House for transitional housing for women.

Flaherty's civic ventures include two successful campaigns for Commissioner of Middlesex County. During his tenure as Commissioner, Flaherty spearheaded a number of initiatives, including a group purchasing program that saved participating communities almost a quarter of a million dollars. While acting as chairman of the Commission, Flaherty initiated the development of a day care facility in Middlesex Superior Court for the children of jurors, witnesses, and litigants having business before the Court.

Flaherty believes that his training as an administrator, his experiences implementing innovative programs and his legal background will serve him well as Register. His proposed programs include a better use of computers at the Registry to make information more accessible and an increased focus on responsiveness and education to improve efficiency and accountability. Flaherty provides that "as an elected council member of the Middlesex County Bar Association, I plan on conducting educational seminars in conjunction with the Register's Office for attorneys and citizens who use the Probate Court. In addition, I would schedule prose litigants on certain days in order to ease Court congestion and improve efficiency."

When complimented on his proposals, Flaherty notes that while his proposals are new, they are based on proven democratic principles. "Over 200 years ago Thomas Jefferson said that the key to democracy is an informed electorate. I am just trying to bring Jefferson's ideas into this new century." On the subject of being informed, Flaherty points out the fact that he has practiced in the probate courts in almost every county in the Commonwealth. "I believe that I have the training, experience and ability to be an effective Register of Probate. If elected, I will always remember that the needs of the customer - the citizens of Middlesex County - are paramount."

(Flaherty, a Democrat, directs anyone interested in learning more about him and his campaign to check out the website at www.francisxflaherty.com. Primary voting will take place September 19.)

Dean J. Bruno candidate for Register of Probate

MEDFORD - Dean J. Bruno has announced his candidacy for Register of Probate of Middlesex County. Looking to rehabilitate the Office of the Register of Probate, Bruno truly represents a new order in the Court.

Bruno was born on April 4, 1971. A lifelong resident of Medford and a graduate of the Medford public schools system, Bruno has dedicated his life to a role in public service to ensure the welfare of not only the residents of Middlesex County but also the Commonwealth.

Bruno began his career as a legislative aide to Senator Charles B. Shannon, whose district includes Medford, Somerville, Winchester and Woburn.

During his three years as a constituent services aide, Bruno worked tirelessly for the people of the Second Middlesex District, advocating on their behalf to the various state agencies regardless of their socioeconomic status.

Bruno's experience working on sensitive domestic matters ranges from obtaining and securing welfare benefits to promoting the rights of the district's senior citizens.

In 1997, Bruno took on another public service role - this time as a police officer with the Salem State College police department.

Working as a police officer, Bruno has spent most of his time enforcing the regulations of the college campus, and laws of the Commonwealth in order to preserve the health, safety, and welfare of the college students and that of the surrounding community.

As a graduate of Salem State College, with a Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice, and an administration concentration, Bruno recently took an active role in the Massachusetts Judiciary, working as an intern with the Probation Department at the Massachusetts Trial Court in Somerville. In this position, Bruno worked closely with the probation offices performing interviews and preparing intake.

Bruno believes that the Office of the Register of Probate has been inhibited by a variety of challenges, not the least of which was the unprofessional behavior of the past Register.

In order to make the office of the Register of Probate a model to be followed, the Office needs to go through a variety of changes before it can become the office that it should be.

Bruno says he knows how to work to distinguish the Office. For example, Bruno asserts that the "most important qualification for the office is knowing how to access State resources." This quality will help Bruno to advance the Office into the 21st Century.

According to Bruno, "the Middlesex Office of Probate ranks as one of the least technologically advanced Offices in the Commonwealth, and that is not from lack of funding - the problem is that past Registers don't know how to access the legislative funds available to them. Right now there is still some of the $75 million made available Chapter 186 of the Acts and Resolves of 1996 to upgrade the Office's computer systems, but no one knows how to get at that funding. I was a legislative aide for State Senator Charlie Shannon for three years. I learned how the system operates and I know how state monies can be obtained."

Bruno also wants to offer a system of uniformity in the Office of the Register of Probate. His goal is to "work closely with the other Register of Probate offices in order to offer uniform statewide probate forms." The idea is to "put an emphasis on simplification of the process and procedures which are inherent to the office."

Melissa J. Hurley of Cambridge candidate for Middlesex Register of Probate

CAMBRIDGE - Melissa J. Hurley of Cambridge has announced her candidacy for Middlesex Register of Probate.

Declaring her belief that the next Register of Probate must be an "innovator, communicator, and educator," Hurley said she is excited about taking on the challenges the Probate Court presents.

"Through a commitment to internal/external communications and advances in technology, I hope to lead the Middlesex Probate Court into the 21st century, and make it a national model for other states to follow."

Hurley, 27, is a native of Medford, where she attended the Medford Public Schools. In 1995, she graduated from Emerson College with a Bachelor of Science in comfort my top priority," said Hurley.

Hurley's platform includes a proposed overall facelift to the Probate Court, including

- *a comprehensive website, where citizens can research the probate court, email their specific questions, and in some cases, request and file documents online;

- *A customer service center located in the Cambridge building, for real-time interaction and assistance with the court;

- *Satellite offices in northern and western parts of the county, where citizens can request copies of documents without traveling to Cambridge;

- *A toll free hotline, where callers' questions will be answered by trained counselors in confidentiality; and

- *Multi-language fact sheets and pamphlets, outlining specific legal processes, such as divorce, paternity and property rights.

"Needless to say, no one wakes up in the morning and decides to learn more about the Probate Court," Hurley said. "Yet the Court plays an integral role in so many lives. By proactively offering educational tools and resources, that outline the duties of the court, citizens will be able to focus on their specific case and the issues that pertain to them."

An active member of the community, Hurley is the host of an award winning cable television program, Middlesex Update, seen on cable outlets throughout Middlesex County. She has interviewed more than 320 guests on the local, state and international levels. If elected, Hurley will also make community outreach a key component of her administration.

"As your Register of Probate, I will not stop 'til every question has been answered and every citizen feels comfortable walking into the Probate Court."

In 1998, she was a top three finalist for the American Achievement Award for Community Service. She has been recognized as an Outstanding Professional & Business Woman, 2000; Outstanding Young Women Recipient, 1998-99; and Who's Who Among Young Americans, 1997-98.

The Massachusetts Women's Political Caucus, along with numerous labor and educational groups, has already endorsed Melissa J. Hurley for Register of Probate.

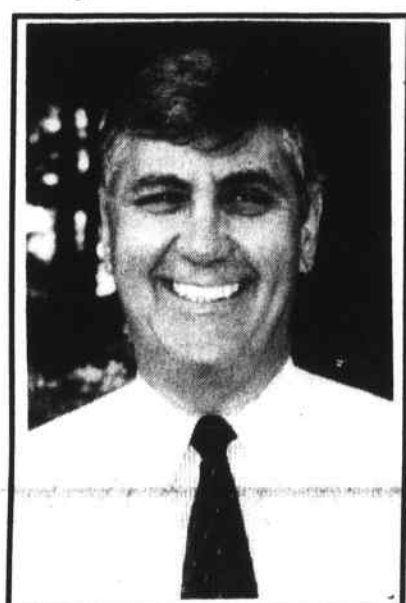

Speech Communications. In 1998, she received a Special Certificate of Completion from Yale University School of Government for a series of classes she completed in women's studies.

Citing her vast experience in community relations, which includes work in the non-profit and public arenas, Hurley says she is uniquely qualified to handle the administrative post which oversees the Probate Court: "My time, both professional and volunteer, has been largely community-based, always being a voice for the people. I've worked directly with battered women's shelters, at-risk youth and addiction centers, developing grant programs and helping these organizations meet their goals."

"I also have the marketing and communications expertise to articulate the ways of the law user-friendly terms. As your Register of Probate I will take a stand for the people, making safety and

Bob Keough candidate for Democratic nomination for Register of Probate

BILLERICA - My name is Bob Keough, and I am a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Register of Probate. My name on the ballot reads Robert Wesley Keough.

I am 58 years old and have been employed for the past 30 years as a teacher in the City of Somerville. My years in the classroom have been most enjoyable and rewarding, but the time has come for me to move on. I feel that the best place for me to employ my skills honed over a 33 year career would be in the Registry of Probate.

The Registry of Probate touches our lives in the most intimate personal ways. It is the repository, among others, of these documents: estates, divorces, name changes, paternity and child custody. These should be secure and available only to those who have lawful right to access them.

As a classroom teacher I have had similar responsibilities. I am responsible for procuring and securing personal records. These being attendance registers, student folders, health records, individual education plans, standardized test scores, in addition to lesson plans, test grades, writing portfolios and of course report cards. These work experiences require me to be organized and to be prepared to meet the future needs of my clients.

To provide direction you need someone with proven administrative experience. I believe my 13 years on the Billerica School Committee has provided me with that experience. I have helped prepare and eventually approve multi-million dollar budgets while employing over 500 professional and paraprofessionals. In each of these 13 years, I was, and am, always present and available to those I serve. As your Registrar, I will do no less!

My positive experience in the classroom, coupled with my political and administrative experience, has prepared me for this position. All I need is your approval on September 19 to make it a reality.

Tom Tierney running for Democratic nomination for Congress

FRAMINGHAM - Tom Tierney, a self described "straight talking Democrat," has formally announced his candidacy for the United States Congress Fifth District seat that's currently held by Martin Meehan. Tierney will be facing off against Meehan in the September 19 Democratic Primary.

Tierney is a 57-year-old consulting actuary with a history of consumer activism who has served in the Marine Corps and who's held local political office in Framingham.

He noted that his "Restoration of Honor" race against Meehan boils down to two simple concepts. "First Meehan, because of his blatant promise-breaking and selfishness, has become unfit to hold a seat in Congress and he ought to be removed by the voters. Second, I'll bring the resolve and skills to Washington that'll create the law that our country will need in 21st century to protect Social Security, restructure medical care, customize and enhance our children's education and protect the Earth's environment," said Tierney.

"The race will be the State's top race come September," Tierney continued. "Our Primary battle will be the only one of significance at that time in Eastern Massachusetts; it'll be the only reason voters show up at the polls, and it'll be a race where almost every one of these voters will understand that he or she will be doing much more than voting for this or that forgettable candidate; they'll be setting a national standard - they'll be affirming or denying the Code of 'Sacred Honor' that's referenced in the Declaration of Independence."

Tierney concluded, "These voters, unlike those in any other congressional primary in America, are going to be telling the whole country whether or not brazen promise-breaking will be tolerated and whether or not the once cherished 'a man's word is his bond' social ethic will again prevail."

A video of some of Tierney's landmark work on fighting insurance company efforts to marginalize their policyholders can now be seen on-line at the New York State Insurance Department's web site: <http://www.ins.state.ny.us/audvid02.htm>.

L. Paul Lucero is candidate for Register of Probate

WOBURN - L. Paul Lucero, a Woburn Police Officer, has announced his intention to run for the office of Register of Probate as a Democrat in this fall's election.

Lucero, a prominent member of the Woburn Police Department as its crime prevention officer and department spokesperson, will be eighth on the ballot out of the nine Democratic candidates fighting to top the ticket in the primary on Tuesday, Sept. 19.

"All my work has been in public service," Lucero said announcing his intention to run. "I just see this as a new level of public service."

One of the Democratic candidates will emerge from the Primary to face Lee Johnson, a Republican who was been appointed to the position by Gov. Paul Cellucci, until this election when the voters get to decide who will serve the next two years of the term.

Lucero said that with the recent negative publicity surrounding the current administration at the State House, he feels the Democrats have a leg up going into the final election Nov. 7.

"But," he said. "You can never take anyone too lightly."

"To me, it is a matter of name recognition and exposure...What you can bring to the office," he said.

"I am getting my feet wet in politics," Lucero added, noting this is his first venture into the political process.

But, Lucero says, he does not see this as a political office, but one where a person will be judged on how effective he or she can make the department.

Lucero said he sees this position as an administrative one: working with the 126 employees, Judiciary, attorneys, and residents of Middlesex County.

"I think my qualifications in working with people are very strong and diverse and my ability to speak fluent Spanish is an asset," he said.

Lucero said many people do not understand what the Probate Department does, but the office, he said, is responsible for "legally validating" and recording documents for matters such as divorces, wills, adoptions, guardianships, name changes, and equity matters to name a few.

One objective, Lucero said, would be to improve technology in the office.

"Right now, the department has started a computer system but it is not fully integrated for all employees and locations," he said.

Another priority is the accountability of the records. Where the records are public, he said, not only should people have access to the records but also, people should be notified if their records are being accessed and by whom.

A final priority, he said, would be a better facility. The present facility just doesn't accommodate the functions, he said, noting often confidential conversations are taking place in close quarters or in the halls for the lack of any better place. A new centralized building would be the ideal answer and Lucero said he would look into this issue with Legislators.

A veteran of the Woburn Police Department, Lucero is originally from Mesilla, N.M.

After graduating high school, Lucero joined the Navy at age 17 and served four years, including an 18-month stint in Vietnam, stationed on the U.S.S. Boston.

Following the service, Lucero worked in the bank industry, first in California, and then later with State Street Bank in Boston.

After getting married, he moved to Woburn and was named to the police force in 1974.

After 18 years as a patrolman, he has spent the last eight as the crime prevention officer and the department's spokesperson and public relations officer during high-profile events.

"I am getting pretty close to retirement and I am looking to start a new career," Lucero said.

Despite retiring from one position, he added, he feels he is in fine shape and can still bring a high level of energy and determination to the office.

Lucero said has spent the summer forming a committee of volunteers and working to get his name out, but added it is virtually impossible to cover all 54 cities and towns thoroughly in the district.

"I think I have a very good campaign committee," Lucero said. "The biggest drawback is name recognition...in a town like Ashby, people haven't heard of Paul Lucero."

Lucero's website is at www.lucero-2000.org and his e-mail address for the campaign is OSS@MediaOne.NET.

Lucero must top the Democratic ticket on Tuesday, Sept. 19, to advance to the general election, Tuesday, Nov. 7.

LOTS MORE MEN WOULD BE IN JAIL IF... John Irving, of Tewksbury, was brought in on a warrant at his wife's request for his inability to match his clothes. Irving was put in jail to raise money for charity at the Tewksbury Homecoming Festival. The arresting officer is Auxiliary police officer Kevin Mowat, who was on duty raising money for the Police Explorers. It is not yet known if, upon re-entering society, Irving is truly reformed in the art of clothes-matching. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

THE GREAT TRAIN ROBBERY is pictured above. On every railroad trip, attempts are made to rob the train and passengers. They never succeed, however, because the trusty sheriff, riding on top of the train, always guns them down.

THE WILD WEST combined with many New England scenes, such as the stagecoach fording the stream, above, or as this lighthouse in Pirates Cove, at the former Pleasure Island on the Reedy Meadow in Wakefield. (Photos from a set of postcards from the collection of Robert McLaughlin)

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Reading and Lynnfield are involved in collecting those memories and perhaps even holding a reunion.

Robert McLaughlin of Wakefield, who started the movement to collect the history of Pleasure Island said, "If you mention Pleasure Island or the Blizzard of '78 everyone has a story."

It is his belief that in this area, there just might be more stories about Pleasure Island.

According to the early research McLaughlin has already done on the project, between 500 and 600 people, "mostly college students," worked at the Disneyland like amusement park. He noted that most of the park employees were from Lynnfield and Wakefield.

"It was a first job for a lot of people," Wakefield resident and Lynnfield native Kory Hellmer said.

She also noted that several Pleasure Island to S-4

Such a place of pleasure is all a part of Wakefield's not to distant past, and is the stuff great memories are made of. It was Pleasure Island and now a group of people from Wakefield,

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

In a wonderful musical play, "Finnian's Rainbow" a beautiful song was sung. It started with, "How are things in Gloccamorra? Is that little brook still flowing there? Does it run through Donegal, Kilkenny and Kildare?"

Folks, many times a person goes back to the place where he or she was born and grew up and, come back home disappointed. some people hoped to find what was left behind years ago - "their youth!"

Bob Thaves, author of "Frank and Earnest" said it more eloquently, "there is NO "U" turn on the highway of Life."

Success is relative the MORE success, the MORE relatives.

Blackie Vega told me that when he shook hands with, Cardinal Law, Blackie's whole right side went sober.

Officer Gerry Gately stopped a beautiful young woman for speeding. He was looking over her license when she looked up at him with her dreamboat eyes and said, "Officer, I want you to know that I have, "CONTACTS!" Officer Gately snapped back with, "young lady, I don't care who you know, your license shows you wearing glasses!"

I remember when my brothers and sisters and I would sing a song for my mother on Mother's Day. "Pal of my cradle days. I've needed you always. since I was a baby upon your knee, you sacrificed everything for me. I stole the gold from your hair. I put the silver threads there. I don't know anyway, I could ever repay, Pal of my cradle days." She had the beautiful voice of a Jeannette McDonald and the tender loving care of an, Irene Dunne of, "I Remember Mama Fame." She shared her love equally with those of us who excelled scholastically or were gifted musically. She comforted me many times knowing that I wasn't one of those.

I thank God for the Gift of writing poetry and Woodchips and I thank a beautiful Irish Lady from Winchester who encouraged me to keep on writing.

"Stay away from the dancing halls, the people there are no good at all, "that's where I met your father Bridget Darling." That's was a popular song years ago meant to be funny, but of course wasn't true. The finest people I know are "now" or "were" Ballroom Dancers and those who read "Woodchips."

Kara Langone, Arlene Muscufo and Laura Allaby all of WILMINGTON.

Jennifer Tarentino, Devin Walsh, Darrin Bono, Donna Doherty and Julie Johnson all of TEWKSBURY.

James Dillon, Dorothy Presser, David DePalma, Katie Farrell, Dennis Kenny all of LYNNFIELD.

Robert DeCola, Brian Salt, Stephen O'Leary, Kathy Appian, Brian Gill all of NORTH READING.

DREAMBOATS Leanna Trombino of TEWKSBURY, Marielena Giannone of NORTH READING, Nicole Higden of BURLINGTON, Theresa Martin of WILMINGTON, Lauren Nakhoul of READING, Nancy Sullivan of WINCHESTER, Meghan and Erin Haggerty of WOBURN.

SUPERSTARS, Brian Sinkus of TEWKSBURY, William Grant of NORTH READING, Al Pym of BURLINGTON, Capt. Larz Neilson of WILMINGTON, Michael McLaughlin of READING, Mark Tseng of WINCHESTER, Michael Curran of WOBURN and Walter "Killer" Kowalski of STONEHAM.

I will never be a good poker player because, I advertise my emotions by the expressions on my face. For instance, Kathy can tell instantly when I've been to my sister Maureen's house. I generally come home talking to myself, my face is flushed and I don't even say "Hello" to my Golden Retriever.

"Well!" Kathy shouted, "what Woodchips to S-10

About The Towns by Phyllis Nissen

Prize winners in North Reading

"The irony of life is that in the wake of tragedy, goodness often prevails," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"Nearly two years ago, an accidental house fire claimed the lives of an elderly couple, Roy and Kalie Fitzgerald. They had made North Reading their home for 48 years. It was here that they had devoted themselves to their children, neighbors, church and the community-at-large.

"Both 75 years old at the time of their deaths, Roy died in the fire at their Gould Street home on September 28, 1998. Kalie died four days later as a result of the injuries she sustained while attempting to rescue her husband who was disabled as a result of a stroke.

"A neighbor and two police officers also made heroic efforts to save the couple prior to the arrival of the fire department. The fire was caused by an unattended candle during a power outage.

"Although the couple's three grown children have moved away from their hometown, they felt it was appropriate to establish a memorial tribute to their parents that would also be of benefit to local high school graduates. But in addition to providing financial assistance to college-bound students, the family wanted to reward service provided to the community by the recipients.

Nancy (Fitzgerald) Martland, a graduate of the class of 1966 at NRHS and the oldest of the Fitzgeralds' three children, was instrumental in establishing the scholarship and making contact with the town to establish this living memorial to her parents.

"And so, The Fitzgerald Prize for Community Service, a trust fund of $15,000, was established with the town's Trustee of Trust Funds.

"I felt it was something they would have wanted to encourage and reward," Mrs. Martland said of the community service criteria attached to the scholarship. She added, "They always had a lot of faith in education..."

"With the increasing activity at Winchester Hospital due to the closing of several other area hospitals in recent years, both traffic and parking in the residential neighborhood around the hospital has also risen. The result has been more traffic around the hospital, and more cars looking for places to park.

"Residents in that neighborhood have long complained about hospital employees or patients parking in front of their houses on the narrow streets and staying all day long. In some cases, even rude and inconsiderate behavior has been reported as the norm. In response, both the hospital and the Board of Selectmen have attempted to mitigate the problems by encouraging off-site, satellite parking, and by instituting parking restrictions in an ever-widening ring.

"The board voted to have no parking on Kenwin Road from Highland Street to numbers 22-23 from 6 to 9:30 a.m., with one-hour parking from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The vote came after some discussion with neighbors about potential variations of those time limits, but the board opted for keeping the same hours for Kenwin as they have instituted on the surrounding streets..."

Policing from Stoneham

"Phillip Vitti of Stoneham was recently honored for thirty years of teaching at University College, the part-time division of Northeastern University," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"A Deputy Superintendent with the Boston Police Department by day, he currently teaches 'Organized Crime' at Northeastern's Main Boston Campus in the evening.

"Vitti has been with the Boston Police Department for the past 36 years. He is currently a member of the Command Staff where he serves as Commanding Officer of the Special Police Division charged with the responsibility of overseeing public safety in the city's 27 housing developments. He has also commanded the Department's Intelligence and Organized Crime units. Vitti holds a bachelor's and a master's degree from Northeastern University."

Parking in Winchester

"The Board of Selectmen voted to increase on-street parking restrictions for both Kenwin Road and Bacon Street, while eliminating a restriction on Waterfield Road," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

Gloucester Seafood Festival

The seventh Gloucester Seafood Festival will be held September 15, 16 and 17 in St. Peter's Park. As it has for the past six years, the non-profit three day family event is expected to draw up to 40,000 participants and is designed to accomplish two major goals:

1. Promote Gloucester Seafood.

2. Reinforce Gloucester's image as a preeminent and successful seaport.

The festival will feature at least nine booths serving fresh Gloucester seafood dishes including lobster, chowder, fish & chips, crab rangoon, seafood salads, a stir-fry and seafood kabobs. Hot dogs, hamburgers, ice cream and corn on the cob will also be available. No alcohol is served at the Festival, making it a perfect family event.

Continuous entertainment will include local favorites such as The Reminiscence, Allen Estes and Walker Creek. The Committee has selected acts that appeal to a wide variety of tastes.

Friday night this year will feature a special event: the first annual Seafood Skirmish. The three top finalists of the New Fish Festival will do a cook-off featuring a four course seafood dinner. A group of 10 judges will evaluate their culinary masterpieces. The Food Network may have Iron Chef but the Gloucester Seafood Festival will have the Seafood Skirmish.

Saturday and Sunday the demonstration tent will feature the Schooner Adventure with a display of dories, knot tying and fish painting, a Stellwagen Bank whale display, fish stick making and fish bone carving, ice sculptures by Cape Pond Ice, tug boat models, fish cutting and cooking, a display by the Gloucester Fisherman's Wives group and much more including a Saturday afternoon exhibit by the New England Aquarium. A video theater will feature continuously running presentations about fishing, the sea, and Gloucester history.

The Seafood Festival will open at 4 p.m. on Friday. Admission will be free. Bring the whole family!

The Festival hours are: Friday, Sept. 15, 4-8 p.m.; Saturday, Sept. 16, 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Sunday, Sept. 17, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Pleasure Island

people she knew met their future spouses while working at the facility. Hellmer, who is now an internet web designer, started out by selling cotton candy and working in the ice cream shop.

Mary K. Galvin of Wakefield, now the clerk to the Board of Selectmen remembers her days working at Pleasure Island.

"We had some wild times there," she said.

The search for Pleasure Island memorabilia started last March when McLaughlin attended a church fair in Wakefield. He remembers browsing through one dealer's collection of post cards and coming upon a complete set of Pleasure Island post cards, which he purchased.

McLaughlin, an electrician who specializes in working on historic locations and has an interest in history started thinking about the park.

"I never understood when it opened, when it closed, or what happened in between," he said. "What was the property used for before (Pleasure Island)."

McLaughlin showed the post cards to Hellmer, who revealed that she had worked there. The two people proceeded to put the cards on the town's website, maintained by Hellmer (www.wakefieldonline.com) as well as some of the other memorabilia they have acquired.

Among the items on the website is a picture of the Hood's Ice Cream Parlor crew taken, according to Galvin who is in the picture, shortly after the park opened in 1959.

As Hellmer and McLaughlin got to talking the idea of a reunion started to take shape. It is hoped that plans can be finalized for such an event to take place this fall.

According to the history that McLaughlin has been able to dig up (much of which came from Town of Wakefield records, newspaper reports of the time and the book "A Century of Fun: a Pictorial History of New England Amusement Parks" by Bob Goldsack) the idea for Pleasure Island started in August, 1956 when the Town Planning Board voted to support a proposal by Cabot, Cabot and Forbes to rezone the 80 acres of marshland commonly known as the Reedy Meadows to an industrial zone. Dirt from some of the land had been used in the construction of the present Route 128 (I-95).

The rezoning had also won the approval of a previous Wakefield board known as the Industrial Development Commission. The Annual Town Meeting approved the rezoning in April, 1957. However, Cabot, Cabot and Forbes was busy developing industrial parks up and down Route 128 and the land lay idle until Gloucester resident William Hawkes presented the idea of developing the wetlands into a theme park on the idea of California's Disneyland which had opened earlier in the 1950's.

Cabot, Cabot and Forbes financed much of the $4 million that was needed to start construction of the park in the fall of 1959 and which did not open until the following June. According to McLaughlin, the project was guarded by Pinkertons during construction to keep it secret.

The grand opening finally came on June 22, 1959 with a VIP opening two days earlier. Some 6,000 people were invited to that event and the records show that many of the days television and movie stars from Hollywood were on hand.

On June 21, a special party was held to benefit the Boys Club of Boston and due to a miscommunication, over 13,000 people had to be turned away. McLaughlin said the records show they were given free passes to come to the park at a later date.

The projections called for 1.2 million people to come see: Moby Dick, a mechanical whale in a pond on the site; participate in staged train robberies; ride on the Jenny cars (gasoline powered replicas of 1912 Cadillacs that ran on rails) sponsored by Jenny Gasoline (now Citgo) walk from a New England Town Common into a wild west community and watch shows that featured some of the top performing acts of the time, including the Three Stooges.

As Wakefield resident Leslie Scott Lysan, who attended the park as a child said, "You can't tell a story about Pleasure Island without mentioning the shows put on by Rex Trailer (and his sidekick Sergeant Billy)."

Although an early parking lot survey showed that cars from at least 20 different states across the country came to the park, the goal of 1.2 million was never attained.

According to McLaughlin, that might have been due to the fact that the summer of 1959 was one of the hottest and most humid ones in New England history.

As an appeasement to the community, the owners established Wakefield night when local residents could come to the park at discount rates. However, an outcry over the night time noise was soon received from Lynnfield residents who lived on the opposite side of the Reedy Meadows.

McLaughlin notes that shortly after that outcry the special night was renamed Wake-

*WOBURN'S SEAN MALONE scored the game-winner on field/Lynnfield night.

The magic of Pleasure Island was able to continue until 1969. However, in the later years the park was plagued, according to McLaughlin, with a number of mechanical problems.

In the last year of operation, a company listed as Fairbanks Amusement Enterprises bought the park and attempted to turn it into a carnival type of operation. According to McLaughlin, the Selectmen turned down the idea and sent the police to the park to confiscate pinball machines that were being operated there.

After that, Fairbanks officers are listed as the company that received a rezoning of the property for residential use and attempted to build eight 12 story apartment buildings on the site. The company went into financial ruin and the officials ended up in jail.

ITT International took over the property in an attempt to recoup some of their losses and the present Colonial Point Apartments were built. In the late 1980's a large portion of the property was obtained by Winchester resident Edward Callan after it was rezoned back to industrial and the first two buildings of the present Edgewater Research Park were constructed.

It is believed that Moby Dick is still in one of the ponds on the Edgewater property. A Hoods Milk Bottle that was used as an ice cream stand is believed to have gone to the Children's Museum in Boston.

McLaughlin is seeking the whereabouts of other pieces of the property and any plans, blueprints or records that may still exist. He is also seeking any leftover souvenir maps, pamphlets or other mementos from the site.

Galvin, Hellmer and McLaughlin are forming a committee to preserve all of the records and are also looking for help.

Any interested parties can call Galvin at (781) 245-4466 or page McLaughlin at 845-2936. The group will also have a booth at the Wakefield Homecoming Festival to be held on the Lower Common on September 30.

NO PAIN PIANO WORKSHOP

Traditional piano teachers might not approve, but thousands of people have learned the secret of how to play piano without reading music.

On Thursday, Oct. 5 6:30 to 9:30 pm at Salem State College, instructor Frank Dunne will teach his nationally renowned "learn to play piano in 3 hours" workshop.

Dunne's techniques reveal how the pros play. A professional pianist and organist whose performances range from pop/easy listening in lounges to private parties and weddings, Dunne will share piano player's tricks of the trade. For over 18 years this workshop has brought seldom taught & highly sought after information to more than 100,000 nationwide.

Only a bare minimum of musical background is required. While knowing how to read treble clef is a good foundation, many students take the workshop with no prior piano experience. Students will learn how to use chords instead of the traditional note-for note music reading.

They'll learn to use sheet music in a completely new way that is extremely simple, and they'll discover many of the magical shortcuts that the pros use to enhance their playing. Dunne promises that after this workshop each student will be able to play any pop tune with both hands using this system.

Anyone interested in taking the workshop is welcome to send for a free pamphlet titled "How to Read Music Notation in Just 30 Minutes!" Send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Pop Piano Workshop, 56 Endicott St., Quincy, MA 02269.

For further information or to register, contact the Office of Cont. Ed. at 978-542-6331 or 6327.

What type of walker are you?

Many walkers know how frustrating it can be to examine dozens of styles of walking shoes before finding the perfect pair. That's why the creators of the Walkingshop catalog and Web site, the world's largest online walking shoe store, have developed an easier way to find the perfect pair of walking shoes.

Walkingshop's selection process is sorted by key factors such as arch type, choice of terrain and the frequency of your walking routine that determine your walking type.

The three types of arch - high, medium and low - are the biggest factors in determining how much support or cushioning your walking shoes should offer. A high arch needs significant cushioning, while a low arch requires more support. A medium arch needs a balance between support and cushioning. The frequency of your walking routine is the second factor that determines your walking type. Fitness walkers who walk between one and three days a week have a serious walking plan, but they don't need to make a big investment. But, walkers who tread four or more days a week need shoes that protect from the street and the strain generated from the walking motion.

Heavier walkers also have specialized needs. If you are more than 25 pounds above your ideal weight, remember that your unique walking mechanics will be exaggerated and you need shoes that will help compensate with more cushioning and support.

Walkers that tread the trail need shoes that will help prevent twisted ankles and bruised soles. It is essential that trail walkers look for shoes that are designed to absorb the impact of uneven and wet terrain, are made of all-weather materials, and have rugged out-

Backyard trampolines can be very dangerous

Although the sport of trampolining makes its official Olympic debut in Sydney, Australia this month, Lahey Clinic physicians have raised concerns about trampoline safety for backyard amateurs.

"The athletes competing in Sydney have trained and practiced for years and are experienced gymnasts with coaches backing them up," says Orthopedic Surgeon David J. Fehnel, MD, who specializes in sports medicine at Lahey Clinic in Burlington.

"Children jumping on backyard trampolines however, have had little experience or guidance when it comes to trampoline training and safety. I would caution parents about purchasing a backyard trampoline or letting children use one."

The American Academy of Pediatrics has held a position against backyard trampolines since 1977. According to U.S. Consumer Product Safety commission surveys, about 83,000 people, mostly children are injured every year on trampolines.

Spinal cord injuries are the most serious injuries children sustain as a result of jumping on trampolines, but bone fractures or dislocations are the most common. Other common injuries include sprained ankles and wrists, cuts and bruises.

If you do allow your children to jump on a trampoline, you may be able to reduce their risk of injury by enforcing the following U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission recommendations:

- Allow only one person on the trampoline at a time.
- Do not allow somersaults.

In Medford

New vision correction center

Viewpoint Vision Correction Laser Center, which opened its doors in Medford on May 15, has incorporated the most advanced technology in laser vision correction for their patients with the new VISX STAR S2 excimer laser. The new laser is manufactured by VISX Corporation, the company that invented the technology for laser vision correction more than 15 years ago.

According to Dr. Will Horsley, co-founder of Viewpoint Vision Correction Laser Center, the STAR S2 laser is the only excimer laser in the world to use a sophisticated array of seven beams to produce a consistently smooth surface on the cornea. Unlike single-beam lasers, the S2 also covers a larger area of the cornea allowing faster procedures with more precise results. The laser procedure is commonly referred to as LASIK, which stands for Laser In Situ Keratomileusis.

An excimer laser works by gently reshaping the cornea, the front surface of the eye. The cornea is responsible for focusing light rays on the retina at the back of the eye, much like the lens of a camera focuses surgery her vision was 20/15 in the corrected eye, better than perfect (as defined by 20/20 vision).

DeAngelis had worn contact lenses for years and as her vision changed, had become more and more uncomfortable. Her recovery was even more rapid than normal because she was less nearsighted than many patients. According to Dr.

LASIK EYE SURGERY is a new surgical procedure for vision correction that Dr. Will Horsley of Viewpoint Vision Correction Laser Center used to help his patient Carol DeAngelis see better.

light on the film. A correctly shaped cornea provides perfect vision. A cornea that is too steep causes nearsightedness, while one that is too flat causes farsightedness. The new laser is capable of correcting either of these conditions in addition to astigmatism, another common vision problem caused by a cornea that is uneven in shape.

The first patient treated with the new excimer laser was Carol DeAngelis of Medford. She chose to have surgery in her right eye only leaving the other eye nearsighted, a condition called monovision. Leaving one eye nearsighted enables the patient to retain reading vision, while improving distance vision in the other eye. The day after Horsley, most patients are able to drive the day after surgery, even though complete healing and maximum vision correction may take a few weeks.

Viewpoint Vision Correction Laser Center was founded by Dr. Horsley and Dr. Michael Price, and is the first freestanding laser vision center on the North Shore. Prior to opening the center, both physicians were affiliated with the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary in Boston. Dr. Horsley has been performing refractive surgery for more than ten years and together the doctors have done several thousand vision correction procedures. The new center is located at 101 Main Street in Medford, off of routes 93 and 16.

- Do not allow a trampoline to be used without the shock-absorbing pads that completely cover the springs, hooks and frame.
- Place the trampoline away from structures and other play areas.
- Always supervise kids to make sure the above rules are enforced.

NOTES

From S-10

"That's the same thing that Superintendent of Schools Geraldine O'Donnell hoped that the Finance Committee could provide to the Wilmington School Department.

"In a letter to Finance Committee Chairman George Hooper, Superintendent O'Donnell explained that the School Department needed funds to purchase textbooks needed for the 2000-2001 academic school year. Recently, those funds were granted by the committee.

"Last December, unanticipated Special Education costs forced the School Department to project a deficit in its Special Education budget. To help offset such a projection, the School Department felt it had no choice but to transfer money from its 1999-2000 operating budget to its one for Special Education. As of May 31, the School Department had been able to reduce the Special Education deficit to $227,726.

"Here's the drawback: $60,000 of the money that was diverted from the operating budget had been set aside for an assortment of textbooks at the Elementary, Middle School and High School levels.

"Now that $60,000 is needed. The high school needs $4,675 for textbooks for its Health and Computer classes; the Middle School needs $46,930 for its American History and Science classes; and the Elementary Schools needs $8,863 for its curriculum kits.

"In a letter to the Finance Committee, Town Manager Michael Caira included the textbooks-expense of $80,000 among the other figures that he requested be transferred from the town's Reserve Fund."

School choice in Wakefield

"The Northeast Metropolitan Vocational School Committee has approved the motion to allow a school choice program," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The decision will allow five students to attend the school from outside the district. The votes were split six to three while three members were absent.

"Superintendent/Director James A. Pelley, was in favor of the decision and stated that he believed the five choice students would create great public relations with outer communities as well as enhance the averages of MCAS scores.

"If we don't get MCAS scores up we could possibly have a problem with the state and be listed as a non-performing school," Pelley said. "If that happens, the state will have to come in with a team of about 20 people to tell us what programs we

WEDNESDAY/THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 14, 2000-PAGE S-7 must reform to increase performance."

"According to Committee member Paul Sweeney of North Reading, the five choice students may help to create a better financial picture for the school. Each student will bring in an estimated amount of $14,000 to $15,000 which includes state reimbursement.

"We have trouble passing the budget every year and since we don't raise extra money, this is a way of bringing it in," Sweeney said.

"School Committee member Earl Fitzpatrick of Malden pointed out that senior classes generally held approximately 210-220 students each year, meaning that over 100 students drop out before graduation. He believes there is more than enough room to add five students to the enrollment without taking away from the community.

"The numbers that leave after the first marking period alone will bring the count down to the low 300s," Fitzpatrick said."

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867. We welcome student writing.

New SPED director in Reading

"Superintendent of Schools Dr. Harry Harutunian recently announced the hiring of a new Director of Special Education (SPED), Stephen D. Gannon, the Acting Director of Student Services and Special Education in Amesbury," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Gannon officially took the helm of the SPED Department in June, replacing interim SPED Director Kevin Moran."

"Harutunian indicated that a number of factors contributed to the hiring of Gannon, including high praise from parents and staff in the Amesbury schools, an extensive background in behavioral programs, and a knack for keeping the SPED budget under control while in Amesbury."

"We were very, very impressed with what we heard from the parents and staff in Amesbury," said Harutunian, who said he and his team of principals interviewed a number of people and heard nothing but positive reviews."

"Harutunian also noted that Gannon was involved in developing a new Individual Education Plan (IEP) program at the state level, and will bring an extensive knowledge of the new program, and how to implement it when the time comes. Such knowledge, said Harutunian, could save the district money and time, as many other districts may need to hire consultants to assist with their own implementation."

"Gannon's strong background in behavioral programs also attracted Harutunian, as it is an area that Reading has not focused on in the past."

Historical House & Garden tour

ANDOVER - "Gates and Gables," the Andover Historical Society House and Garden Tour will treat visitors to an inside peek at nine Andover homes and historic sites on Saturday, September 16. From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. guests will be welcomed into a series of homes that display a rich collective history and a fascinating diversity of architectural and individual decorating styles.

The houses on the millennial year tour span 300 years of American architecture, from a late 17th century Early Colonial saltbox to a 20th century Shingle/Queen Anne. Old house lovers will also enjoy the other vernacular styles featured on the tour, including Federal, Second Empire, Italianate, Arts and Crafts and Georgian Revival.

The homes have interesting living histories as well as architectural pasts. Daniel Webster gave a rousing speech from the backyard of one of the tour homes, and another house offered lodging to Adoniram Judson, the cleric who started the missionary movement in America. Some of Andover's most interesting native sons and daughters made their marks on this year's featured tour homes.

In addition to the homes, the tour itinerary will include the West Parish Garden Cemetery, one of New England's rare garden cemeteries; the Balmoral, built in 1922 to house the headquarters of the American Woolen Company; and the Crystal Ballroom, Shawsheen Village's social center in the 20s.

Tour tickets are priced at $15 in advance and $20 on tour day. Tickets are now available and can be purchased at the Andover Historical Society, Limoges Antiques and the Andover Bookstore. Lunch will be offered for $8 at the Andover Historical Society and can be reserved in advance. For more information about the tour, call the Andover Historical Society at 978-475-2236.

"While in Reading, Gannon will helm the $6 million SPED budget, the fastest growing section of the School Department budget. Harutunian said that he hoped Gannon could find some ways to bring the budget under control...."

the heck was the argument about this time?" Little Danny, who is about one and a half year's old, is just learning to walk. "So, what's the big deal?" Kathy asked. "Well, Maureen extended her arms for Danny to walk to her and, when he had just about reached her Maureen pulled her arms back and Danny fell flat on his face."

When I rushed over to try to pick the poor kid up, my sister pushed me away. "Leave him alone," she exclaimed, "he has to learn to get up by himself!" "But-t-t," I stuttered, "You tricked him by pulling your arms away."

"Listen here Fatso," she screamed, "that's the way life is and the sooner he learns it the better." Danny picked himself up but he didn't stop crying. "Aren't you going to console the poor kid?" "Nope," Maureen snapped, "when he gets tied of crying he'll stop."

"For crying out loud (no pun intended) he's only one and one half years old, Ma never brought us up this way." "Look you old goat," the world is a lot different eyes" he's my kid not yours so, mind your own, "Bee's Wax." I came home with one of those No. 89 TV headaches.

What my brothers and sisters had was a father for discipline and a mother to run to for consolation.

Advice on how to price a home correctly for sale

Pricing your home correctly is crucial to selling your home in a timely manner at the highest price possible. Current market conditions determine the value. Pricing too high or too low can cost you time and money.

Factors affecting the price:

1. Location
2. Features
3. Condition of your home

4. Age of your home
5. Current market conditions.
  - What you paid for your home has nothing to do with its present value.
  - The value some agents put on your property is not always accurate.
  - Homes you think are the same as yours may in fact be very different.

Create the perfect backyard building

Are you looking for an unusual garage? Do you need extra space for a studio, garden, shed, tractor, workshop or home office? More and more people are building little barns out back, instead of garages, for attractive, inexpensive and efficient extra space.

New York architect Don Berg, author of the popular books "Barns and Backbuildings," and "Carriage Barns," has been surprised at the variety of little barns that people have asked for. "One of my clients wanted a loft just to enjoy the view. Another figured out that he could hoist his canoe up to a loft by himself, and double his storage space on the same property area. One couple wanted an elegant looking carriage barn to hide a very inelegant duck blind building business.

Many homeowners want a shelter for their hobby car and tractor restorations and for entertainment vehicles like ATVs and motorcycles. Others need both a garage and a horse stable, but are limited to just one accessory building by zoning laws. Ordinary garages just don't seem to work for today's lifestyles."

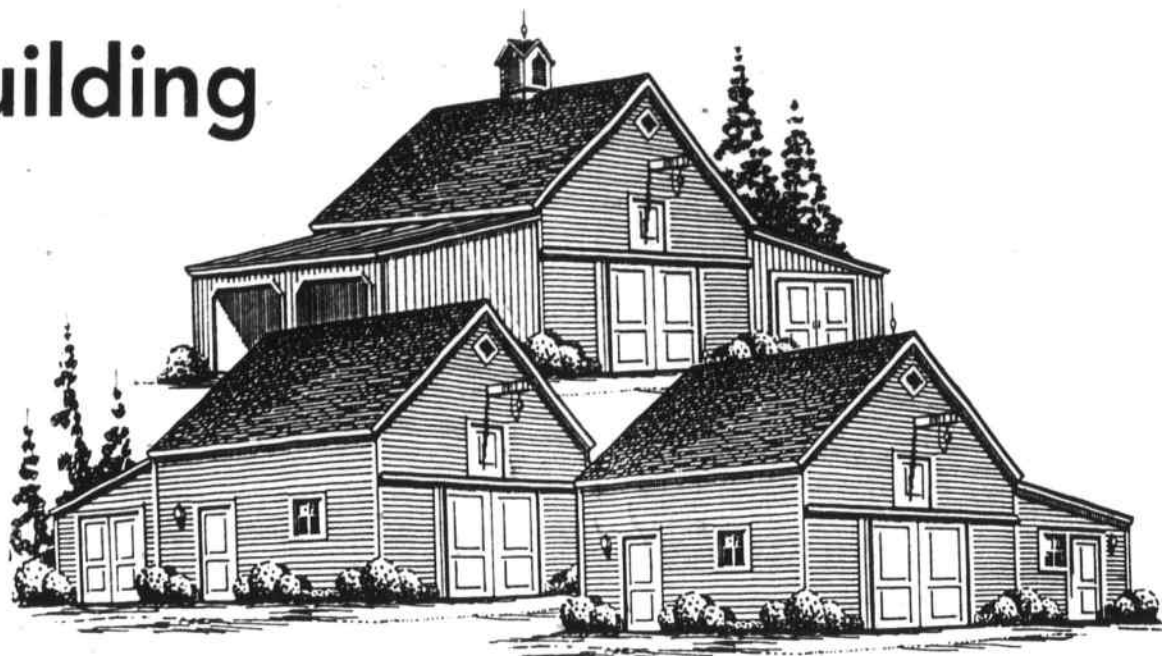

Berg started creating inexpensive mail-order plans designed to allow you to create exactly the building that you need. The blueprints start with an inexpensive pole-barn with room for one or two cars and a full storage loft. They include a series of matching add-on sheds that you can use as extra garages, workshops, garden sheds, tractor shelters, woodsheds and more. The add-ons fit easily on either side of the barn or across the back.

The buildings are planned to give you your choice of exterior materials so you can customize the look too. You can create anything from a pretty five-car coach house that matches your home's finishes to a miniature farm barn for animals and tractors.

You can see samples of the barn designs at a Berg's website. Go to www.abetterplan.com and click over to the "Add-On Barns" section. Or, call 516-766-5585 for more information.

The Maple Barn, with a variety of add-on sheds. Design by Donald J. Berg, AIA, www.abetterplan.com

Pace of multifamily home sales slows

Sales of two, three, and four family homes began to moderate across Massachusetts during the first half of 2000, declining 6.5 percent from 3,508 units closed in the first six months of 1999 to 3,279 in the same period this year, according to data compiled by the Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR). The decrease in sales activity follows 18 consecutive quarters of year to year sales increases between the second quarter of 1995 and the fourth quarter of 1999 and reflects a general easing in housing demand due to higher mortgage rates, volatility in the financial market, and limited inventory levels in many communities, industry officials said.

"Like the single-family market, the multifamily housing market has felt some effect from rising interest rates this year. Especially hit has been sales of two-family homes, which have become a popular starter home market for entry-level buyers," stated MAR President Fred Meyer. "More than anything, however, multifamily sales are suffering from lack of inventory and tight supply. Record sales over the past four years and a dearth of new multifamily construction have limited opportunities for both first-time buyers and investors to enter this market."

Across the Bay State, sales of 2-4 family homes slipped 5.1 percent in the first quarter, from 1,496 units in the first three months of 1999 to 1,419 in the comparable period this year, and fell 7.6 percent in the second quarter, from 2,012 units in the April-June quarter a year ago to 1,860 in the same three-month period of 2000. Much of the decrease in sales activity was limited to the greater Boston area, where the multifamily housing supply is most depleted.

In fact, sales of multifamily homes remained strong in several regions during the first six months of the year, the MAR report shows, healthy sales again occurred in both the Central (Worcester County) and West Regions, where sales rose 13.3 percent and 12 percent respectively in the first half of 2000 over the same period last year. In addition 2-4 family home sales increased a modest 0.8 percent in the Northeast region during the period, while sales were essentially stable both on Cape Cod, where sales dipped by one unit, and the South Shore, where units sold declined three units from one year ago.

Notably, despite the slower statewide sales pace, the total dollar volume for multifamily home sales increased 28.1 percent during the first half of the year, an indication that demand for multifamily properties remains quite strong despite higher prices. Total dollar volume for two-three, and four-family properties increased from $567,603,960 in the first six months last year to $727,175,386 from January-June 2000, raising the average value of multifamily homes to $221,767.

Town rallies together for youth soccer kids

This was no ordinary morning at the fields

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It could have been just another Saturday morning when hundreds of kids put on the uniform and cleats and had Mom and Dad drive them down to the soccer field to have some fun in the Fall weather. But it certainly wasn't just another Saturday morning.

This past one was a special one to the minds of the children who play soccer in this town, not to mention a special morning for many adults here in town. In front of several hundred people, the Town of Wilmington displayed its newly renovated Shawsheen Elementary School soccer field complex after about a year of having it torn up.

As several youth soccer players grabbed the huge pair of scissors to cut the ribbon, the soccer field complex was in the background as the sun beat on the shiny new green grass and local politicians made sure they gave the attention to those who deserved it for making it all plausible. Each soccer player was awarded a ticket which gave them a free hot dog and soda and that was for after their hard work in their morning game to enjoy some refreshments.

Town Manager Michael Caira opened the ceremonies by saying, "I know this has been a long time coming. I hope it's well worth the wait."

He would go on to say that, "For years we have gone to other fields and said 'wouldn't it be nice to have one of those'. Well, ladies and gentlemen we now have one of those."

Obviously Caira was referring to the multiple fields behind him. Gone are the huge potholes and the drainage problems where in the past if it rained on Wednesday, the puddles would still be so bad on Saturday (just like the Woburn Street School fields are today) and the thousands of youngsters had to put the uniforms and cleats back in the closets. The lopsided fields are no longer obvious from driving by in the old stationwagon, what it obvious is the incredible job Superintendent of Public Works Don Onusseit and his staff did in just a short time of work.

"I was excited about the opportunity," said Onusseit, who was honored with a strong ovation and a plaque from the organization. "This project was a lot of fun and I'm happy with the way it came out. Every single department member I could have worked on this field did. It was a department wired effort."

Onusseit said some problems occurred while his staff revamped the field. He said there was a lot of drainage problems, while some rocks and bad soil took out some much needed time. After leveling everything off, putting new soil down and fixing the various problems, the new turf was put on and that needed to patiently watch before a child could step back on the field.

"The turf starting growing about a year ago," he said. "But it was thin and we needed it to be thickened up. It wasn't quite ready and we didn't want to take the chance of it not being ready [by playing on it]."

Caira in his ceremonial speech joked that the town is $200,000 poorer with the costs of the projects but he certainly also gave a lot of praise to those who helped out. Caira pointed out town workers John Marsi, Bud Stanley, Scott Smith and Bill Landry, before giving the microphone to Selectmen Michael Newhouse, who praised Caira for his efforts.

"In the last five years as a selectmen [in town] I never once had to push Mike Caira in spending money for the kids of this town," said Newhouse.

After Newhouse, president Tony Martinello spoke for a few minutes and he too thanked a lot of people. The organization gave plaques out to those who helped out including Caira, Onusseit, State Rep. Jim Miceli, Selectmen Jim Rooney and Newhouse, as well as Athletic Director Jim Gillis. Martinello was quick to point out in a post speech interview how much Wilmington Pop Warner, Little League and the entire youth soccer organization was a perfect 10 in making everything run so smoothly.

"The lack of field space could have been such an inconvenience. Everyone really worked together and that's really exemplified here. We had been contemplating shutting the program down for a year while the field was being redone because we didn't have the fields. But Pop Warner, Little League, Texton Systems, AGFA all let us use their fields and the athletic department was a big help too."

"The town wanted to provide the kids of this town a first rate place to be able to play soccer and it took some time but this is certainly second to none. Don and his staff did a tremendous job. We've been anxiously awaiting this day and there's been a lot of work done by so many coaches, volunteers who have worked tirelessly to do what they can. Everyone's pitched in, the coaches have stepped up - it's just been fantastic."

Wildcats celebrate often in first week of play

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It might've taken six years to do it, but when the final whistle blew and the game was over, the exhilarated Wilmington High girls' soccer celebration was well worth the wait. And they certainly made it look that way.

The young Wildcats continued their hot streak with three wins in as many games to begin the 2000 season with a 1-0 shut out victory over the highly touted Masconomet Chieftain team at their place. This is the first time in six years of being in the Cape Ann League that the 'Cats have defeated a Masco team.

Wilmington has defeated North Reading, Chelmsford and Masconomet thus far outscoring them by an 7-1 margin.

"Yeah I am," answered Hendee when asked if she was surprised with the team's 3-0 start. "But that doesn't mean I'm not happy."

Hendee is thrilled with the team's effort and style of play through the three games. But she did admit that her team didn't necessarily deserve to beat Masco on Tuesday afternoon.

"They outplayed us," said Hendee. "Masco has a couple of real strong players with great skill and there were times in the game when they made us look silly. They might've outplayed us, but we outscored them and we've been on the short end of many of those games in the past so we'll take it." What's amazing about the start out. She played excellent making some great saves."

Michele Lemos and Rachel See also played well against Masco.

On Saturday night, Wilmington defeated Chelmsford, 3-1 despite a mishap on the schedule. Chelmsford thought it was a 3:30 game, and Wilmington thought it was a 7:00 game with the JV's playing at 5:30. Instead both the JV's and Varsity teams played at 5:30.

"It took us about ten minutes to get into the game because everything was so chaotic and so scrambled. But after that we settled down and started dominating," said Hendee.

Just four minutes into the game on the first shot from the 'Cats end, junior Diane Dellascio booted a strong kick into the far corner to give the road team a 1-0 lead. Wilington would carry the play the rest of the game as Kristin Pelletier and freshman Lauren Rappoli netted single tallies each with Christine DeSimone and Jenny Michaud adding assists. Rachel See assisted on Dellascio's goal.

"We were just stringing nice passes together. it was good stuff," said Hendee.

Defenders Molly Pidgeon, Danielle Spry and Michele Lemos all played well against the Lions.

In the team's season opener, they blanked North Reading 3-0 behind goals from freshman Ashley Steenbruggen and Lauren Rappoli as well as Diane Dellascio. Stacy Comer and Rachel See added assists. Rufo made seven saves for her first of two shutouts in three games. DeSimone and Michaela Rufo also put forth strong efforts in the win.

Meuse member of another championship team

Matt Meuse, a Wilmington High graduate of 1998 (Division III North Baseball Champions), was recently honored as a member of the Snap-On-Tools ASA National Championship softball team in the Men's Class A Modified Pitch 2000 which took place in Wisconsin.

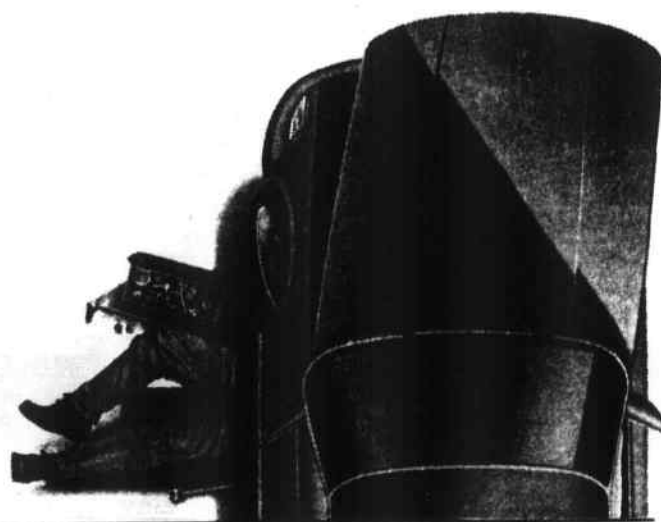

Snap-on-Tools was one of 53 teams from across America to compete. Snap-on-Tools beat the Tighe Club in the finals of the losers bracket and went on to win the last two games in the winners bracket for the National title.

Matt plans to join the U.S. Marine Corps September 24.

Shawsheen Volleyball Preview Flynn hopes team is up for a big spike

By PAUL HAYES
Sports Correspondent

Coach Chet Flynn knew it would be a tough year for the Shawsheen Tech girls' volleyball team. The team returns only three players with varsity experience, only one of which was a full-time varsity starter for last year's squad.

But he didn't know it would be this tough.

The Rams were handed a 15-7, 15-9 season opening loss to Greater Lawrence High School on Tuesday. Following a competitive but error-filled first set, the team failed to score a single point in the second set. Flynn attributed the loss, and the severity of the loss, to a lack of leadership.

"I'm looking for someone to take charge," said Flynn.

Four of last year's starters were lost to graduation, including floor leaders and Commonwealth Athletic Conference all-stars, Erika Peterson of Wilmington and Katie Booth of Tewksbury.

This year's squad is made up entirely of underclassmen. Most have never played on the varsity team before, the returning starters are Wilmington juniors Kelly Gillis, Stephanie Sprague and Kathleen Guiney. Only Gillis was a full-time starter on last year's varsity team.

To fill the leadership void, Flynn has taken a captain-by-committee approach. A different player will assume the captain's role for each match.

"We want someone who will become a captain because of their performance on the floor," said Flynn.

Guiney was named captain on Tuesday, but Flynn appears to be buying time while he grooms a future captain. Gillis is expected to emerge as the team's leader because of her experience, and her distinction as the most improved player on last year's team, said Flynn.

Following a strong preseason, Flynn expected his team to fare better against Greater Lawrence.

The lady Rams team had won a preseason match against Wilmington, and had played well in a loss to Tewksbury. But on Monday the team appeared to go flat after losing a competitive first set, said Flynn.

"We were frozen," said Flynn. "I'm hoping it was first game varsity jitters."

He said once key players are comfortable assuming the roles of team leaders, he expects rapid improvement.

In addition to Guiney, Gillis and Sprague, the varsity team will depend on several first-time players. According to Flynn, sophomore Arelis Cardona of Tewksbury has the potential to be the team's top passer this season.

Tewksbury freshman Jen Elwell has been impressive on this year's junior varsity team, and could move her way into the varsity line-up by mid-season.

Four years after winning a CAC conference title, Flynn looks forward to cultivating another title contender. He predicted this year's team would finish at .500 or better, slightly better than this year's squad. It all hinges on the players.

"We have a good shot (at finishing) over .500," said Flynn. "It's all under our control."

WHS Girls Soccer:
Wilmington 3, North Reading 0
Wilmington 3, Chelmsford 1
Wilmington 1, Masconomet 0

Becky Rufo, Lauren Rappoli, Rachele See and Ashley Steenbruggen: Rufo registered two shutouts as the team's goaltender in the team's 3-0 win over North Reading (7 saves) and 1-0 win over Masconomet (13 saves). Rappoli, See and Steenbruggen are all freshmen on the 3-0 team who are playing key roles in the team's success. Steenbruggen scored her first goal of her varsity career which was also the program's first of the 2000 season. Rappoli also netted her first goal as a varsity member against the Hornets, and she scored in the team's second game as well. See had an assist in each of the first two games.

TMHS Girls Soccer
Tewksbury 4, Notre Dame Academy 1

Jackie Greer: As a sophomore, Greer scored all four of the team's goal in their 4-1 victory over Notre Dame Academy of Tyngsboro last Thursday.

WHS Boys Soccer:
North Reading 4, Wilmington 0
Masconomet 7, Wilmington 0

Tim Riley: It's been a tough start for the Wildcats as they have been outscored 11-0. To no avail without Riley in the backfield, the 'Cats could easily be outscored 40-0 at this point.

TMHS Boys Soccer:
Methuen 3, Tewksbury 1

Jeff Eisenhaure: For a young team, he seems to have some pretty good skill for a team that's expected to rise before the end of the season. Head coach Steve Levine hopes what he saw on Saturday with his player will continue the rest of the season.

WHS Golf
Wilmington 12, Ipswich 0
Wilmington 10, Triton 2
Wilmington 11, North Reading 1

for the 'Cats. Ungvarsky shot a 35, 34 and halves his three matches, while, Youngclaus shot a 38, 38 and 37 to be very consistent as the team's No. 2 golfer.

TMHS Golf

WHS Golf

One big happy family

BY PATRICK HANRAHAN
Sports Correspondent

Wilmington High's golf team expected its two brother acts to pick up wins, but the entire team is playing like one big, happy family, going 4-0 in its first week of competition.

WILMINGTON HIGH SENIOR BRIAN VELARDO unleashes a drive on the greens of Northmeadow Golf Course in the team's win on Friday. (Photo by Joe Hakey).

The Wildcats faced Cape Ann foe Ipswich last Thursday and routed the competition, 12-0. Junior Aaron Ungvarsky registered low medallist honors with his score of 35, which was good for a 4 & 3 victory.

Solid number two man, senior

Jay Youngclaus, fired a 38 and won his match. Aaron's brother, sophomore Jordan Ungvarsky matched that score for a win while the Velardo brothers, senior Brian and sophomore Dave, posted 5 & 4 victories. Senior Mike Montalto picked up a point for the Wildcats with his 3 & 2 win.

After last week's opening win over North Andover, head coach Al Fessenden was pleased that his team kept up the momentum. "Aaron Ungvarsky won with solid and steady play," he said. "It was nice to keep the winning streak alive."

The Wildcats turned around the next day and trounced Triton, 10-2. "That was a big win for us," said

Fessenden. Budding star Aaron Ungvarsky led the charge with a 2-under score of 34 that gave him a 4 & 3 win. "In a competition, that's outstanding," said his coach.

Jay Youngclaus continued his strong play with a 38 (4 & 3 victory). Jordan Ungvarsky's 37 was also good enough for a 4 & 3 win, while Dave Velardo's 41 gave the team another point (4 & 2). Junior Kyle Burns stepped up with a solid round of 41 for a 2 & 1 victory.

"Aaron's 34 was a highlight," said Fessenden. "A couple of them didn't play like they wanted but still played good in match play. It was a team solid effort."

The first real test of the season came Monday against North Reading. "They're a good solid team," said Fessenden of one of the season's Cape Ann favorites. "We were trying to see how we'd react against this team."

Since both teams play their home matches at Hillview golf course in North Reading, the strength of the teams more than most matches decided the victor. And on this day, the Wildcats proved they can play with anybody, posting an 11-1 victory.

Aaron Ungvarsky halved his match, but he had to come back from three down to do it. Brian Velardo took low medallist honors with a strong 36, which led to a 2 & 1 win. Jay Youngclaus registered a 4 & 2 victory with a 37. "He's been a solid number two for us," said his coach.

Wilmington also picked up points on Jordan Ungvarsky's 41 (2 & 1) and Dave Velardo's identical 41 (3 & 2). Kyle Burns shot a 37 for a 4 & 2 win. "He's been a nice surprise this year, who has worked really hard and gotten himself into the 6 spot," said Fessenden. On the early season challenge in the Cape Ann League, Fessenden thought his team passed the test. "We really stepped up to the plate," he said.

The Wildcats continue the challenge with a tough match at Newburyport Tuesday. Only two of the Wildcats' golfers have seen the course, which puts a premium on shot placement over distance.

"It's been a great start naturally," said the coach. "We'll get on the road with a few matches and we'll see where we are."

With the top players performing up to their expectations and the lower part of the lineup coming up big, Fessenden has to like what he sees. "I think the hard work of the summer has paid off," he said. "They're tougher mentally."

Boys' soccer off to sloppy start

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Through 160 minutes of play, the Wilmington High boys' soccer team hasn't scored a goal.

On the flip side of that, they've given up 11 of them.

"They're a great team," said interim coach Steve Scanlon after seeing his team lose its second straight game to open the season, 7-0, to Masconomet on Tuesday afternoon at Shawsheen School. "They're very deep and have many great skilled kids. We were overmatched but it shouldn't have been 7-0, maybe 3-0 if everyone's doing their job. We gave up some softies today."

For the first 15 minutes or so, Wilmington played pretty well and kept up with Masco, who has always been a very good soccer team in the Cape Ann League. Scanlon used six midfielders trying to clog up the middle of the field so Masco wouldn't have so much empty space to maneuver. It worked for a while as Masco clung to an 1-0 lead. Less than ten minutes after getting its first goal, Masco got a second one as a shot from 25 yards out went off the hands of goalkeeper Dan Alosco and into the net.

The score stayed 2-0 until the break and that's when the 'Cats lost one of its defenders Sean Cannon with a leg injury. After his injury it seemed that the entire defensive effort collapsed as many Masco players were wide open. Masco added five second half goals and turned the 'Cats second game of the season into a dud. Wilmington didn't have many scoring opportunities, but the team has to step it up a few notches or this could be a very long season.

Brush and Gaffney impressive for Cross Country teams

Two underclassmen break records

By PAUL HAYES
Sports Correspondent

A pair of records, and a pair of losses.

That was the story for the Wilmington High School Cross Country teams, after setting a pair of home-course records and suffering a pair of losses during a tri-meet with Newburyport and Triton Regional High School on Monday.

Sophomore co-captain Michelle Brush set the girls course record after finishing the three mile course in 20:09, wiping out the previous record of 20:57, while freshman Shayne Gaffney completed the course in 17:35 setting a new freshman record, according to coach Tom Bradley.

"I expected them to finish first (for our team), but not that fast," said Bradley.

The record setting day was tempered with the reality that the teams will start the season with an 0-2 record.

The boy's team lost 21-42 to Newburyport, and 27-28 to Triton; the girl's team lost 19-42 to Newburyport, and 25-31 to Triton. Despite the losses, Bradley was encouraged by his teams performances.

Bradley looks forward to building his two young teams into league contenders in a couple of years; 18 of the combined 22 varsity runners are either freshmen or sophomores.

Monday's performance was a good step in that direction. Four of the top finishers on the boys team, and all five of the top finishers on the girls team, are either freshmen or sophomores.

Even more impressive was the performance of first time runners. Freshmen Gaffney, Steve Berry (19:58), and Jena Patterson (26:52), and Sophomores Dan Vassallo (20:42), Jackie Brown (22:06) and Athena Karalekas (27:33) all finished in the top five in their first varsity races.

"We'll do better next year, and even better the year after that," said Bradley.

Returning runners senior captain Scott Buck (19:21) and sophomore Nick Eaton (19:36) finished second and third for the boys team; sophomore co-captain Meghan Fudge (25:35) finished third for the girls team.

The record setting performances by Brush and Gaffney did not take Bradley completely by surprise. He said he knew Brush was capable of surpassing the course record, and was familiar with Gaffney's ability from last years middle school cross country program and a breakthrough pre-season performance.

However, there was some room for surprise. Bradley did not imagine Brush would beat the former girl's course record by nearly a minute.

"I knew she would break the record," said Bradley. "But I was surprised she broke it by so much (time)."

Bradley also did not expect Gaffney would immediately establish himself as the teams top runner.

"We had no idea he'd be this fast," said Bradley. Gaffney posted one of the top five Wilmington boy's times in course history, and nearly placed first overall, losing by one second to a Newburyport runner.

"We look forward to better things as the year goes on," said Bradley.

The Cross Country team hosts a meet against North Andover on Thursday at 3:30 p.m., and travel to face Masconomet and Pentucket Regional High School in a tri-meet on Wednesday, Sept. 20.

Field Hockey team comes back strong with win

By DAVID FLYNN
Sports Correspondent

Wilmington's varsity field hockey recorded its first victory of the season on Monday with a 6-1 victory over Triton.

"The girls worked really well together," said Wildcats' head coach Patti Cushing. "We were able to implement a lot of what we have been practicing. [And], a lot of the substitute players got to play as well which is great this early in the season."

The Wildcats started fast and took an early 1-0 lead in the first half. Leading by one, Triton picked up its play and shut down the Wildcats until the final minutes of the first when Wilmington scored again to take a 2-0 lead at the break.

In the second half, the Wildcats erupted for four quick goals to put the game out of reach for Triton.

Three Wildcats' players scored two goals apiece in the winning effort. Sophomore Janessa Mutchler, junior Lisa Antonangeli and Leah DeMaggio found the back of the net twice.

Senior co-captain Kim Gillespie, senior Bethany Mutchler and junior Stefany Quinton had assists for Wilmington.

Junior Sherry Thresher and sophomore Heather Seed did not face many shot in goal but made the saves when needed. With the victory the Wildcats improved its record to 1-1-1.

"I was pleased to see the girls were running together," said

Cushing. "And I was pleased to see them do some of the things we have been practicing."

On Friday, the Wildcats squared off against Amesbury and battled to 1-1 tie. Antonangeli tied the game for Wilmington with a goal in the second half. Wilmington trailed by one after Amesbury scored early in the first.

The story of the game was the defensive play of the Wildcats. Bethany Mutchler, senior co-captain Katelyn Sughrue and senior Caitlyn Bransfield were on top of their games and helped keep Amesbury at bay.

"They got a lot of practice in that game," said Cushing of her defense. "They held up under pressure. It was a really fast game and the defenders worked really hard."

In the season opener the Wildcats lost to a very solid Masconomet squad, 2-1.

The Wildcats host Newburyport on Friday at 3:45.

WHS Volleyball Preview

New coach thinks team may surprise some

By DAVID FLYNN
Sports Correspondent

When Wildcats' first year volleyball head coach Mark Staffier looks down his roster he does not see a very experienced team. The age of his players however has not deterred him from feeling confident about the team he has put together.

"They are a very young team," said Staffier, whose team has only three seniors and not one of them is in the starting lineup. "They have a great attitude about the team. They work hard in practice and are very willing to learn."

Staffier will employ a five-one system that allows for the Wildcats to focus more on its defense rather than its offense. In the system there will be only one setter.

"I think defense is more important than offense," said Staffier. "That's my style, I guess."

Junior Nicole Silva has earned the Wildcats' setter position.

"She has been the setter for the past couple of years," said Staffier, who was the Wildcats junior varsity coach before being named head varsity coach this year. "She has real good hands for setting."

The Wildcats will look to junior captains Lindsey Borseti and Kristen Faube for leadership and to set a positive example for the younger players. Borseti is an outside hitter and Faube is a hitter.

"They are very enthusiastic and they work very hard," said Staffier. "They are ready to go all the time. I think they have a good relationship with the team."

Staffier is excited about the rest of his team as well.

Defensively, junior Kerri Moynihan (defense), senior Kate Catanzano (back court defense) and junior Erica Barrett (back court defense) will add depth and skill to the defensive five-one system.

Staffier believes the Wildcats will surprise many teams this season and he is realistic that at times the young squad will struggle. Still, Staffier is excited to have the opportunity to work and grow with a young team instead of one that was older and already established.

"We have to build on our weaknesses throughout the season," said Staffier. "They (players) know they are a young team."

"It gives me the ability to work with them this year and next. We will continue to improve."

The Wildcats' season opened up on Tuesday as they played host to Reading. The Wildcats played well and kept the game close before falling to Reading, 2-0 (15-12, 15-12).

Staffier said, commenting on the game, "They played pretty well. It was their first time out and I think anxiety overtook them."

The Wildcats will host North Andover on Friday at 6:00.

Mighty Mite Whites play Wakefield strong

Mighty Mites White
Wakefield 25, Wilmington 0
On a beautiful September day in New England the Wilmington Wildcats Mighty Mites "White" opened their season against the Wakefield Warriors with a crowd pleasing opening game effort.

Wilmington kicked off to Wakefield and started out their new season on defense. On Wakefield's second play Wilmington's Mike Kelly came up with a big hit causing a fumble. Wilmington's Steve Sousa recovered.

The Wilmington offense could not convert the Wakefield miscue into points. The young Wilmington offense led by veteran Matthew Larfarello at halfback and featuring first year players, quarterback Liam Gately and running backs Steven Sousa and Matthew Farrell showed much poise throughout the game.

Playing a strong game on the offensive line were center John Moriarty, and first year guards Joshua "The Mash Potato Maker" Townsend and Scott "Bone Crusher" Layton. Playing an all out aggressive defense for the Wildcats were Steve Sousa, James Welch, Roger Gould and Danny MacKinnon.

At this early stage of the season the Wakefield Warriors were too much for the young Wilmington Wildcats with 19 first year players. All in all it was a good opening game to build on with the next opponent the mighty Tanners of Woburn.

The Wilmington White Mighty Mites would like to give a thunderous thank you to the Mighty Mite White Cheerleaders who helped inspire such fine play and sportsmanship. Special thanks to Town Manager Mike Caira for helping out with the use of the Town Hall. All of football would like to wish a speedy recovery to D team coach Mark Brady, hope to see you back on the field soon.

Under 10B Boys just too potent

The U-10B Wildcats proved to be too powerful in both offense and defense against their rivals in Wakefield in a 9-1 season opener win last Saturday.

Fueled by multiple goal performances by Danny Dellisola, three goals, and Conor Murphy, two goals, along with solo tallies by Matt Hackey, Joe Cerbone and Andrew Cazeau, the Wildcats offense clicked throughout the entire game.

Defense had its say in this victory also holding Wakefield to just one goal throughout the game. Outstanding defensive efforts by Dan Hunt, Matt Morabito, and Eric Parsons made for this balanced Wildcat win.

Behind the combined goal-keeping of Scott Bonish, who made an exciting jump save in the first half and Dylan Reed who blocked 8 tough shots in the second half, the Wildcats appear to be in good form as it prepares for its next game against Reading.

Recapping the victory, the highlight of the game was the teamwork, effort and enthusiasm by every player on the team. "The most important thing I want to see is that everyone goes out there and gives it their all," Coach Cazeau noted after the game.

The win was especially sweet for the Wildcats since it was coming off a disappointing 4 game loss at the North Reading Annual Fall Kickoff the previous week. The Kickoff, which is a tune-up to the regular season, gives teams like the Wildcats, who have five new members, a chance to play together for the first time before regular season.

Sheehan comes up big for Under 12 Boys

Coach Bill Kent's forces began the defense of their MYSL U12 Title on hostile ground against a talented Concord squad. Concord carried the action early, testing goalkeeper Brendan Sheehan early and often.

Defensive stalwart Matt Brooks helped keep Concord off the board early when he out-hustled a Concord forward to stop a dangerous breakaway. A free kick by Concord deep in Wilmington's zone was blocked on an outstanding play by Greg Stewart.

But Concord followed up with a long high kick that bounced in front of the net. Net minder Sheehan displayed his intrepidity when he leaped above a throng of Concord players bearing down on the goal and swatted the ball safely out of bounds an instant before an elbow to his head left him down and out for the remainder of the half.

Finally, Brendan DeMango incited a resurgence in Wilmington's offense when he stopped two successive Concord advances, returning the ball to the Concord end. There, Wilmington stepped up the pressure. Consecutive corner kicks were placed perfectly on net but despite searing follow up shots by Tim Kent, Concord's defense proved impenetrable.

A final assault on the Concord goal was engineered by Richie Barry just prior to half time. Barry blazed a path up the right side and launched a rocket that sailed just over the net, leaving the first half scoreless for both teams.

After a brief foray by Concord into Wilmington's zone, the Wildcats began to assert themselves. Greg Stewart short-circuited several Concord advances, controlling the mid-field and initiating several solid offensive flurries.

At the seven-minute mark, Shane Foley lofted a towering shot that descended on net. Concord's goalie blocked the Foley attempt, but Chris Azevedo pounced on the rebound and drove home the first goal of the season giving Wilmington a 1-0 lead.

Concord responded with a sustained attack for the next several minutes. Their initial venture into Wilmington's zone was short lived when Zach Ciampa confiscated the ball and returned it across midfield. Their next attempt proved more successful as they worked the ball deep and fired off a blast towards the right corner of Wilmington's

net. A spectacular diving save by Pat Ryan stopped the blast but left the net wide open. A quick follow up on the rebound appeared destined for pay dirt when Dan Patterson appeared from nowhere to squelch the attempt. Again the rebound came ricocheting back, but by then Ryan had scrambled back into position and was able to snuff out the final attack. Wilmington's defense finally stiffened with Zach Church garnering the ball and navigating his way back across mid field.

From there, Brendan DeMango instigated an exciting fast break, finding Shane Foley in the middle who fed C.J. Jeannette with a perfect lead pass. Jeannette fired off a shot without breaking stride, missing just a bit high.

Needing only one goal to tie, Concord stormed right back. Again, however, they were thwarted as Derek Hanson stepped in and intercepted a lead pass and redirected the ball to Mark Walsh. Walsh deftly dribbled his way up the left side and fed a streaking Dana Steenbruggen whose shot past the unprotected Concord goalie sealed the Wildcat victory. Final score: Wilmington 2, Concord - 0.

Boys Under 12-3 team end in tough tie

The Wilmington Boys U12-3 team opened their fall season in Melrose on Saturday, September 9. Both teams seemed to be working out the kinks from having the summer off. Brendon O'Riordan started in goal and played a solid shutout in the first half. He made good saves and took good care distributing the ball. The backfielders in front of him - Carl Crupi, Steven Shibilis, Jason Serino, and Peter Tummino were not letting much past them. Midfielders Carlos Moran, Jeremy Sanderson, and John Lippello did a good job moving the ball up to their forwards.

Forwards Brian Abbott, Jesse Belding, Scott Benard, James Frackleton, Richard Langone, Ryan Loring, Andrew Marra, and Patrick Schultz kept applying the pressure during their shifts but the Melrose defense played tough and Wilmington was unable to score.

Patrick Schultz played goal in the second half. Wilmington's defense broke down a few times and Melrose got a few chances to score, but Patrick stopped them all. Both teams were applying the pressure at each end, but neither was able to score. The game ended in a 0-0 tie.

Cyclones experience pays off against Stoneham

The 2000/2001 U 11 "A" Cyclones, made up of last years 11 and five new members, traveled to Stoneham on Saturday for game one of Fall travel soccer.

In their first appearance together as a team, the new members were undistinguishable from the old with the team gelling instantly on the field. Within minutes of the starting whistle, teamwork paid off and the Cyclones converted for a goal when stopper Jessica Stira cleared the ball with a hard boot over to forward Jessica Labrecque.

Jessica Labrecque then made a nice pass to forward Christa Cavallaro who dribbled toward the goalkeeper and took a shot into the left side of the net, scoring the first Cyclone goal of the season.

The forward team of Natalie Melkonian, Nicole Nihan and Lauren Frissore kept up the offensive pressure firing shots on goal for Wilmington. Stoneham's keeper was up to the challenge and turned away each and every one, never again caving to the Cyclone's relentless attack.

Brittany Concannon and Jen O'Neill each had top notch games for Wilmington, controlling the play in the midfielder position and getting shots off on net as well. The game seemed to turn into a practice in the art of corner kicks, with 15 awarded to the Cyclones throughout the match.

The most memorable was taken by midfielder Stephanie Sauve who sent the ball over to forward Liz Wilson. Liz received the pass and immediately kicked the ball back to Stephanie, who in turn passed it over to midfielder Katie Cole.

With Stoneham's defense running in circles, Katie found herself open and blasted the ball high into the air, skimming the net as it sailed just centimeters over the top.

With only a one goal lead, the Cyclone defense stepped up, led by veteran sweeper Dana Nolan, and right and left defenders Casey Godzyk and Erin Muese. The trio worked together keeping the opponents out of Cyclone territory. The goalkeeping duo of Leah Potner and Colleen Magee saw more action while on the field than in the net, also supporting the team with great defense.

The lone threat by Stoneham came after a missed handball call in the box by one of their defenders. What should have been a penalty kick for Wilmington quickly turned into a breakaway for Stoneham. The forward misfired and hit the post as the defense got back into position and quickly cleared the ball out of the box. The game ended with a 1-0 Wilmington win.

The team is looking forward to game two vs. Woburn at the newly renovated Shawsheen Field on Saturday morning at 10:30.

Wilmington
Water DepartmentPublic Notice
Notice of Violation of the Drinking Water
Regulations of Massachusetts

This notification is to inform the customers of the Wilmington Water Department that bacteria samples collected during the month of August 2000 showed the presence of Total Coliform bacteria within the water distribution system. This incident resulted in a violation of the "Drinking Water Regulations of Massachusetts" 310 CMR 22.00. Follow up testing immediately after being notified of the violation indicated no bacteria in the system.

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that the presence of total coliform is a possible health concern. Total coliform are common in the environment and are generally not harmful themselves. The presence of these bacteria in drinking water, however, generally is a result of a problem with water treatment or the pipes which distribute the water, and indicates that the water may be contaminated with organisms that can cause disease. Disease symptoms may include diarrhea, cramps, nausea, and possible jaundice and any associated headaches and fatigue.

These symptoms, however, are not just associated with disease causing organisms in drinking water, but also may be caused by a number of factors other than your drinking water. EPA has set an enforceable drinking water standard for total coliforms to reduce the risk of these adverse health effects. Under this standard, no more than 5.0 percent of the samples collected during a month can contain these bacteria, except that systems collecting fewer than 40 samples/month that have one total coliform positive sample per month are not violating the standard. Drinking water, which meets this standard, is usually not associated with a health risk from disease causing bacteria and should be considered safe.

If you require further information, please call the Superintendent of Water & Sewer, Michael J. Woods at 978-658-4711.

Girls Under 12 team takes on Grey Ghosts

The Wilmington Wildcat Under 12 Girls Travel Soccer B team saw its first action of the year on a full size field in Westford. They played the game at the Jack Walsh Field which has a notorious 10-15' pitch to one end. The Wildcats won the coin toss and picked the end going uphill for the first half.

As the game progressed it was obvious the Wildcats were in for quite a battle. Westford kept the ball in the Wildcats zone for most of the first half, relentlessly pressuring the Wilmington defense and persistently challenging Alyssa Brown in goal.

Amanda Lord used her speed to turn back a number of Westford opportunities on one side and Cameron Woodbury showed dominant strength and kicking ability on the other. Casey Otovic and Danielle Miles were also solid contributors on defense. Alyssa was a monster in goal, eating dirt and making great save after save.

Andrea Mitchell made several key plays intercepting and breaking up a number of offensive charges to the outside while Jennifer DiNuccio, Lauren O'Brien and Danielle Fiorentino contributed at midfield. Near the end of the first half, Westford scored their first goal on a deflection that got by the consistent Alyssa Brown. Wilmington forwards began to show some life with Jessica Metcalfe making a strong bid on goal moving the ball through Westfords strong defensive efforts.

The first half offensive drives by Westford dominated and dictated the action on the field.

In the second half, with boisterous sideline support from the zero tolerance fans of Wilmington and New Jersey resident Norm Wolfrom, the Wilmington offense began to show some spark.

Wildcats Katie Stone, Megan Keane, Colleen Carroll, Kim Ciampa, Brooke Langone, Lorena Prinziavalli and Jessica Metcalfe began to the offense to the next level, penetrating and pressuring the defense of Westford. Amanda Lord was successful in bringing the play into the offensive zone from deep in the Wilmington zone.

Play began to get more physical and aggressive in the Wildcats zone and the Wilmington players stepped up to the challenge and refused to be intimidated.

The second goal of the game came when Westford got off a shot from 25 feet out that just fell under the crossbar and over the outstretched hands of Alyssa Brown. The third goal came shortly after on an outstanding kick of a high bounce that hit the upper right hand corner, again over the outstretched hands of Alyssa Brown.

The game finished leaving the Wildcats scoreless and their first loss of the season. There were lots of stars for Wilmington, but the star of the game had to go to Alyssa Brown who kept the Wildcats in the contest by turning away 24 of the 27 shots she faced.

Next week's action will be against Wakefield at 10:30 at the Shawshen Elementary Field. Let the games begin.

Under 14 Girls face tough L-S squad

The fall season started with a bang Saturday, September 9 with the U-14 Girls Division 1 soccer team facing off against rival Lincoln. The day was gorgeous and the field conditions have never been better. Congratulations! To the Town of Wilmington and Wilmington Youth Soccer Organization for a job well done. After a brief, ribbon cutting ceremony, the fields were open and play began.

The Wilmington team had looked forward to this game to gain some payback for being defeated by Lincoln twice last fall season. Several players were not able to participate due to illness/injury but the team as a whole showed what it can do and came out with spirited play.

The first half saw Wilmington quickly gain control and most of the play was in the Lincoln zone. Caitlin McNab started the scoring, driving one by the keeper. Lani Cabral-Pini scored at the end of the first half, blasting one into the net. The Wilmington Wildcats rotated playing positions, giving each player time at different positions.

They kept the pressure up, constantly controlling play and developing scoring opportunities. Ryan Murphy, Jessica Alosco, Amanda Figueroa, Katharine McMahon, Holly Brown and Teresa DeSimone combined to keep up the offensive pressure. Second half scoring was accomplished by Jackie Rideout, scoring two goals to bring the final score to 4-0 Lady Wildcats.

With keeper Alicia Braid out with an injury, Debbie Lyons stepped up to ably tend goal. She was tested with only three shots on net and effectively turned away each shot. The Lady Wildcat defense was again strong, breaking up most attempts by Lincoln to gain an advantage. Kelly Crosby, Bridget Kent, Caitlin Foley, Krystina Smith and Kerri Porter set up an effective defensive network that prevented many shots on net.

Congratulations to the Lady Wildcats for a great start to the fall season and best of luck for the rest of the schedule!

P.A.L. Hoop tourney baskets of fun

The Wilmington Police Athletic League hosted the sixth annual three on three basketball tournament. The event was open to all students in grades six through 12. Teams consisted of three or four players in each age group in a double elimination format.

About 60 students took part on a beautiful Sunday afternoon. Each participant was given a t-shirt and the champions in each division were awarded trophies.

In the girls Grade Six Division the champions were Samantha Canning, Dana Nolan and Katie Sullivan. This team was the most exciting and scrappiest group in the tournament. They not only won their own age group, they also beat the seventh grade champions.

The Grade Seven champions were Alyssa Bibeau, Alysha Murray, Erin McGee and Brianne Bozzella. The two games between these teams were intense and grueling.

In the Boys Division the Grade Six champs were Kyle Borsetti, Josh Mayo, Pat Ryan and Greg Stewart. In the Grade Seven Division the champions were Brian Cairra, Tom Miele and Jeremy Schuh. After winning their division they joined the Grade Eight Division and played two very strong games against older competition.

They were beaten by the eventual Grade Eight champions, Eddie Kaufman, Ryan Quigley and Dan Reid.

In the Grade Nine Division the winners were, Louis Auciello, Todd Chen, Sean Godding and Dan Hurley.

The Grade 10 Division was the largest and oldest of the day. The surprise team of the tournament, Nick Butler, Ray Dreyer and Dan Snow. Snow came close to winning. After starting the day with three straight wins they fell to the eventual championship team that included Tom Duffy, Mike Harrison and Michael Jordan.

Congratulations to all the winners and thanks to all who took part in the tournament. As usual, a big thanks goes to the parents who spent the day supporting all the players. We hope to see you again next year. A special thanks to Greg Potcner of Wilmington Trophy for having the t-shirts and trophies ready on short notice.

Under 10A Boys blank Wakefield, 3-0

The fall 2000 season started out strong for the U10A boys travel soccer team. Fresh from a pre-season spree at the North Reading Tournament, the team was ready for action on opening day.

The squad began on the road, journeying to Wakefield. Wilmington took control of the game early with good ball possession and offensive pressure. Colin Wilson, Stephen Stewart and Justin DiRienzo moved the ball well in midfield. Kenny Vassallo and Scott Bonica's passing sequences kept the ball in Wildcat territory. The Wildcats' first goal was a collaborative effort.

Starting with a solid cross from Jonathan Spurr, to a quick flick on from Michael Scolia to fellow forward Jason Pereira, who finished off the play with a solid shot on net. Wakefield rallied back, even with great defense from sweepers Ryan Searles and Ricky Belding, goalkeeper Kevin Moran was put to the test. Moran came up with a major play in the final seconds of the half, quickly coming off his line to smother the ball and maintain our lead into halftime.

Wilmington wasted little time in the second half to strengthen their lead. Midfielder Scott Bonica fed the ball perfectly to forward Ricky Belding who sent the ball into the opposite corner. Vassallo and Moran launched several more attacks on goal. The third goal was added with a heads-up pass from Jonathan Spurr to Ryan Searles, who took it in all alone from half field.

Wilmington preserved the shut-out with help from hustling players Stewart, Scolia and Pereira protecting keeper Colin Wilson. Final Score: Wilmington 3; Wakefield 0.

FOOTBALL

Super Bowl quest starts Saturday

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Tewksbury High football coach Brian Aylward will never go out of his way to say that his team will and should be on top of the Merrimack Valley Conference.

He won't do that because he doesn't want to put his foot in his mouth, and he knows that anything can and has happened in the highly regarded MVC.

With that Tewksbury has been hyped up this year - and they should be with the amount of experience and the size they have up front. Aylward is not concerned with hype - his concern is just playing the game of football.

Everybody's good [in the MVC]," said the coach who is in his fourth season with an 17-13-1 record. "We haven't had a real game day test yet. We will on Saturday and we'll know a lot more after that."

Tewksbury will be hosting Everett (1:30 pm at Doucette Field), the Division 1-A Super Bowl winner of a year ago. Gone are several outstanding players including Diamon Ferri, who took his running moves to Syracuse, while, the scouring report on them says they are bigger upfront than they were last year and they have two solid backs.

"I don't know where they come from," joked Aylward. "They must have a factory over there."

Whenever a team faces Everett, it's never, ever an easy task. Tewksbury has played them very tough in the last two season opener's, but fell short both times when Everett opened the lead in the second half.

"They will beat us on the scale and in numbers, but I would expect that no one will beat us in work ethic," said Aylward.

While Everett lost Ferri, the Redmen lost strong armed quarterback Tom Sullivan, who is now at Amherst College. Sully took his lumps as a junior starter and turned that into a tremendous senior season as he led the team to an 7-3 season, after an 2-8 season in 1998.

Sullivan ended the season tossing 1,502 yards and 14 touchdowns. Senior Ryan Davoren, whose brother Paul was succeeded by Sullivan, takes over at the QB position.

"He's played well enough to get the job," said Aylward of the younger Davoren. "He has good command of the huddle and executes what we have wanted to execute thus far in pre-season."

During his JV days, Davoren was known as a quarterback with a strong arm but slow feet. However, over the last few years he has taken up track and done extremely well in the sprints, thus improving his footwork a lot.

Davoren's best target will be none other than Jay Wagstaff, an all-league selection from last year. The senior is coming off a tremendous season with 8 touchdowns and 611 yards (an amazing 23.5 yards per catch). He is easily the best receiver in the league and one of the best around the area. He makes the sensational catches, he makes them in pressure situations and he makes them while being doubled and triple teamed. Senior Anthony Clark will be the other wide-out.

As for the running game, Tewksbury returns three veterans who combined for about 700 yards last season. Fullback Erik Nickerson is extremely talented and extremely big. At 5-10, 185 pounds, Nickerson will get his share of carries, but will also lead block for both Ryan Carlson and Mark "Bo" Boudreau. Both the halfbacks are injured with ankle injuries, but Aylward hopes they'll be ready to go on Saturday. If not juniors Bill Meuse and John Drinkwater will get the calls.

Tewksbury's strength should be its size and experience on the line. Guards Tom Costello and Jason Stotik return and both of them are very good. Costello is banged up right now, but if healthy the 5'9, 200 pounder is a force. Stotik, who was named to the MVC second team unit last year, also is quite big at 6'0, 235.

Nick Lavita (5'11, 230) is a returning letterman and he will be one of the tackles, while, senior Amadeo Galotto seems to have the other job. Senior Frank Flanagan (6'0, 240) is the team's center and he too certainly doesn't lack size.

Arnie Martel and Bob Ullo will back-up Davoren at quarterback, while David Ortega and T.J. Forsythe look to crack some playing time on the offensive line.

"We're expecting that our experience will pay dividends," said Aylward. "The seniors have provided great leadership and they have been through some big games."

If the younger guys keep improving they'll be key contributors."

Defensively, the team will be led by Nickerson at one of the linebacker's spots in Aylward's 4-3, sometimes 4-4 scheme. Nickerson is extremely good, very tough and very fast. His timely blitzes often give a lot of quarterbacks headaches.

As good as Nickerson is, Ryan Carlson and Mark Boudreau are just as good in their respective positions. Carlson plays strong safety but a lot of the times he can be considered the team's fourth linebacker. He also is extremely tough and gritty, and his blitzes don't help ease the headaches of those QB either. Over the last two years, Carlson has been named to the second team unit and he usually leads the team in tackles every game.

Boudreau returns after a all-conference season as a cornerback, and if he isn't ready to go on Saturday, that will be a huge loss.

Jack Byrne (6'2, 200) and Paul Saunders (5'9, 190) return as the team's two ends, while Stotik will be one of the team's tackles. Both Saunders and Stotik are coming off monster games against Wilmington from last year's Turkey Game, while, Byrne certainly can hold his own.

Costello, Steve Bagley (5'9, 175), James McCarthy and Jim Reinold (5'9, 165) will be mixed in as the other linebackers. Chris Melo (5'6, 240), who is injured, will be another tackle, while, Galotto, Ortega, Forsythe and Martel will also get some time on the line.

Wagstaff will be a cornerback, while, Clarke, Meuse, Drinkwater and Ullo are fighting it out for the final spot. Tewksbury's secondary could be very good with Carlson, Boudreau and Wagstaff leading the way.

Pregame ceremony at WHS

The Wilmington High Athletic Department will be hosting a pregame ceremony before the first ever high school athletic game under lights at Alumni Field. The ceremony begins at 6 pm and it will include all members of the the fall varsity athletic teams, as well as local politicians.

The game against league rival Masconomet will officially begin at 7:00 pm.

[Sp. Ed.]

THE TEWKSBURY HIGH FOOTBALL TEAM will be looking for these five senior captains to lead them to bigger and better things this season. The season will get underway this Saturday afternoon at Tewksbury's Doucette Field against the defending Division 1 Super Bowl champs of Everett. Kick-off is slated for 1:30 pm. Waterboy to receiver

Lifetime score achieved by Wagstaff

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Back in the mid-90's, Jay Wagstaff stood on the sidelines of the Tewksbury High football team as the team's waterboy. He would give water bottles to the players with his little No. 9 jersey on. He would dream of being a star just like No. 9, Ben Christopher, was.

Ironically, today the comparisons between Christopher and Wagstaff are heard very often.

Christopher, a small, very built and very fast wide receiver, had a very good career for Tewksbury, when healthy. He broke his leg twice, and is currently the top wide out for UMaine at Orono, as he scored two touchdowns two weeks ago.

Wagstaff has a lot the same characteristics of Christopher: they are built nearly the same, they both can run (4.6 second 40-yard dash for Wagstaff) and both make the sensational catches, including many for touchdowns.

"Yeah I hear that a lot," said Wagstaff. "Last year Ben came down and we talked for about an hour before the Chelmsford game. He was telling me a few things like don't get too caught up in everything and keep doing what you have been doing. But it was weird talking to him [after being the waterboy]."

Wagstaff is certainly the best receiver in the Merrimack Valley Conference, and arguably one the better ones in the state. The talk from the other MVC coaches about the best players in the league usually centers around Wagstaff. Last year he had 611 receiving yards and caught 8 touchdown passes from quarterback Tom Sullivan. The most amazing stat was Wagstaff's average of 23.5 yards per catch - and a lot of that was done while being doubled teamed.

"We already know that Everett will put two guys on me everytime I line up as a wide-out," he said. "But that's alright - hopefully I can still get the ball. But even if I don't, I did my job by taking two guys out of their defense. Plus it opens up everything else. We have a great running game and a lot of experience back there."

As good as Wagstaff is, a lot of his success was because of the timely and rocket throws of quarterback Tom Sullivan, who has graduated and gone on to Amherst College. Of the 1,502 yards Sully tossed last year, 41 percent of those yards went to Wagstaff. Of the 14 TD passes Sully tossed, 57 percent went to Wagstaff. Now Sully is gone and the new quarterback Ryan Davoren takes over.

"I thought there would be [a difference] but there isn't," he said of his adjusting to Davoren. "Me and Ryan have played together since we've been nine. Dav has been playing awesome so far and he throws the same. Tommy scrambled a lot and I had to do a lot of re-routes. Dav just drops back and throws."

"I tell [Davoren] to throw it to me that I'll always be open, but I think I've gotten him in trouble a few times so I don't tell him that anymore," he said with a chuckle.

Already this past summer Wagstaff has dramatically improved himself. He went to a Northeastern University Camp with 400 kids and was one of four kids to be asked back. Many colleges have drawn interest thus far with Brown, Holy Cross, Amherst and Northeastern to name a few.

"I want to improve," he said. "I think I'm bigger and faster and much more experienced than last year. All of us went to Northmeadow and we worked out everyday - it just became a habit. I know I needed to [add muscle] because I wanted to play defense a lot more. My sophomore year I got bounced around a lot and junior year I got a little bigger. It helps out in every sport, it helped me out in track so I stayed with it. I don't want to get bounced around out there."

One thing he does want though is to get the ball.

"I'm hoping that I still get the ball in pressure situations [no matter if he is doubled teamed]," he said.

Sounds like a dream a little kid has on the sidelines as a waterboy.

'Cats smashmouth offense too much for Scarlet Knights

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It might not have come to a surprise by now that the Wilmington High football team won their opening game over North Andover on Friday night.

But it might have come to a surprise to many how much the smaller offensive line of Wilmington dominated the much bigger defensive line of North Andover right from the get-go.

It also might have come to a surprise to many how well the entire defense played for the 'Cats, as the 11-man unit shut out the Scarlet Knights, 27-0, as the season got off to a terrific start.

Wilmington's dynamic duo of Mark Jepson and Bobby French couldn't be stopped. French's 43-yard gain through the middle of the defense on the first play from scrimmage set the tone for the game. The 'Cats absolutely dominated the first half of the game on both sides of the ball, before turning the ball over on several possession in the second half on fumbles.

Jepson carried the ball 9 times and managed 133 yards including scores of 58 and 50 yards. French carried the ball 12 times for 111 yards, while seniors Josh Hiltz and Dave Trueira added the other scores.

Wilmington's running game was simply awesome on the night. The first team unit rushed the ball 27 times with positive yardage coming out of all the rushes but four (one fumbled snap and another on a QB scamper out of the pocket). Jepson, French, Hiltz and Trueira combined to rush for 264 yards against a pretty good team. The one downfall of the offense on the night was quarterback Josh Hiltz didn't complete a pass (0-for-3). However, Wilmington proved that its offense is pretty damn good.

And oh yes, its defense is also pretty damn good.

"Our defense doesn't want to give up a point all season," said Jepson, who also picked off a pass out of the cornerback position. "This is just the start of it."

Head coach Bob Almeida predicted that his offense would be better this year than last even without Eric Banda and his 16 touchdowns. Assuming the backs stay healthy, Almeida has many weapons he can go to this year, and an opposing team will have a lot of trouble keying in on one player. That he hopes continues.

"We have two outstanding backs," said Almeida, who upped his record to 34-10-1 as a Wildcat. "French and Jepson had terrific games."

"And the [touchdown] run by Hiltz was great too - that was a huge play. We moved the football all night and that's a credit to our entire offense."

After French started off with the 43-yard lug through the middle, Wilmington would set up a first-and-goal from the NA9 just three plays later. Hiltz fumbled a snap, but recovered and the ball was spotted at the 7. Senior Dave Trueira then took an inside counter to the left coming from the right and scored to the left end zone for his first varsity TD, making it 6-0.

Jepson booted the PAT and it was 7-0 just three minutes and change into the game and season.

Wilmington held North Andover to just three yards on a three-and-out series and after Hiltz returned the kick-off 19 yards to the NA45, Wilmington would once again march down the field. Jepson picked up 15 yards on two carries to get a first down, before Wilmington went to the air with an incomplete pass. French followed that up with a great run, spinning and cutting around many defenders, moving the ball 22 yards for another first down (he rushed for 83 yards in Wilmington's first 10 plays - just four carries of his).

After a loss of a yard and a five yard penalty, Hiltz tucked the ball under his arm on second down, shifted beautifully past two defenders, and beat a third defender just barely inside the left cone for the team's second touchdown. Again Jepson kicked the PAT and Wilmington led 14-0 with 2:06 to go in the first quarter.

Once again North Andover went three-and-out as Rob Garrett - who played a terrific all-around game - sacked quarterback Shaun Phelan for a five-yard loss on third down.

Both teams would exchange punts and Wilmington had the ball on its own 42 yard line with 4:02 to go in the half. Jepson took the first carry on a sweep call to the left, and his gorgeous cut moves eluded him down the sidelines and in for a 58-yard touchdown run making 20-0 (his PAT kick no good).

Wilmington continued to chew up the clock and basically utilize its smash mouth kind of football of running, running and running in the second half. The 'Cats continued to run inside and outside.

"You have to," answered Almeida of running both inside and outside. "We kept trying to mix it up as we both countered each other."

Jepson scored his second touchdown on a 50-yarder down the sidelines once again with five minutes to go in the game to officially put the Scarlet Knights to bed.

Wilmington's first string offense was done for the night after a spectacular showing. The line of Joe Ranno (at center, who split time with Sean McCarthy), Justin Cammarata, Jim Fennelly, Joe McHale and Garrett all played extremely well showing off great speed and agility for Jepson and French to find the holes they created.

Defensively, Fennelly had a monster game, but the work of ends Josh Howlett and Andy Campbell certainly didn't go unnoticed.

Wilmington will host league rival Masconomet on Friday night for the program's first night game at WHS. Pre-game festivities begin at 6 pm with kick-off at 7 pm.

WILMINGTON HIGH SENIOR RUNNING BACK Mark Jepson had a great first game with 133 rushing yards and two touchdowns. (Photo by Joe Hakey).

Jepson goes for long journey again

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

In his last two football games spanning two seasons, Mark Jepson has reeled off touchdown runs of 86, 79, 58 and 50 yards, respectively.

Four touchdowns, two games. Think he can hit the hole with the best of them?

On Friday night, it took Jepson a few carries before he found the gracious holes his teammates left him and before he made his beautiful moves and cuts up the field. In the end, the 5'9 165-pound running back came through for the Wildcats with an 133-yard, two touchdown performance in the team's 27-0 season opening victory over North Andover.

Not bad for an opening game? "We did what we had to do tonight," said Jepson, who also intercepted a ball at his cornerback's position and ran it back for 38 yards setting up his second touchdown. "We came in as the defending champs of the league and we showed it."

Jepson certainly did his part do show it. After being stopped short at the line of scrimmage in his first carry, he picked up 14 yards over his next three which led to Josh Hiltz' 14-yard touchdown run. After a 7-yard gain on first down of the team's next drive which they were forced to punt, Jepson put the game away with 4:02 to go in the first half.

On first-and-10 from the 'Cats 42, Jepson took the ball on a sweep call to the left. Before any North Andover defenders could react, the speedster was racing down the sidelines into end zone territory with an 58-yard score.

With 6:46 to go in the game and Wilmington ahead 20-0, Jepson was stuffed at the line of scrimmage on second and seven from midfield. But he wouldn't be stopped on the next play, and once again he darted through the hole left from him by his teammates, escaped a few defenders and found the end zone once again making it look so easy.

"The offensive line was awesome - they did so much for me," he said. "They have so much speed. They might look small, but they are so quick and very, very strong."

As fast as Jepson is, his strength is by far his moves. He knows when to shift, when to avoid someone and when to pump his legs to motor.

"I always have success when I cut back," he said. "The defenders don't know what I'm going to do."

With the 133-yard game on nine carries, Jepson has an early season average of 14.7 yard per carry (he now has almost 800 career rushing yards with 8 touchdowns).

Was it mentioned that he also booted three of four extra points?

Football Stars of the Week

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Since this is just a football section, I figured I might as well make a separate "Football Stars of the Week" as opposed to the normal "Stars of the Week" which appear in the regular sports section.

Since Tewksbury didn't play this past weekend, there's no Tewksbury Football Stars of the Week, but there's several players who did very well for Wilmington and Shawsheen. So here goes:

Wilmington

Mark Jepson: Jepson had a huge day as running back of the 'Cats. He scored two touchdowns, rushed for 133 yards and also had an interception as a defensive back. His scores were the last two of the game which put the Scarlet Knights away.

Bob French: As Jepson put the game away, French was the one who initiated the win. On the first play from scrimmage, he lugged 43 yards down the middle of the field, setting the tone for the game. He rushed for 111 yards, but didn't score.

Joe Ranno, Sean McCarthy, Justin Cammarata, Joe McHale, Jim Fennelly and Rob Garrett: This entire group formed the offensive line for the 'Cats as they absolutely dominated in the first quarter, and first half. As much as French set the tone for his first run, the offensive line group certainly set the tone by creating the large holes for which French and Jepson could get to.

Josh Howlett and Andy Campbell: Both of the defensive ends played extremely well on Friday. Howlett had three huge tackles, all for losses, including two sacks. Campbell was playing with a hurt shoulder and had two tackles for loss of yards.

Shawsheen

Brad Lawrenson: He played very well as a defensive back with several knockdowns of passes, while he also played well on special teams.

Derek McLaren: He completed two passes in his first start as quarterback, including one for his first TD pass.

Rams don't Stubb their toes in opening game

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

For the third straight season under coach Al Costabile, the Shawsheen Tech Football team won their season opener. On Saturday night, the Rams played extremely well behind running back Mike Stubbs with an 27-7 victory over Arlington Catholic played at Arlington High on a comfortable evening.

Stubbs was the highlight of the game. The Billerica native rushed for 218 yards on 15 carries, scored on 63 and 52 yards touchdown runs, tossed an incomplete pass on a halfback option play, caught a pass for 8 yards, had an interception that was returned for 17 yards, and he also ran back a punt for 15 yards. Not a bad day's work at the office, eh?

"This is a good start," said Costabile. "The kids did a tremendous job. It was nice to see Stubbs have such a great day. When I went over to congratulate him on his game, he said to me 'Coach don't forget the line, don't forget to congratulate the offensive line'. When he said that to me, it meant so much - he proved that he is a team player."

AC started the game off with the ball on its own 20-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, the Cougars lined up with four wide-outs, confusing the heck out of the Rams defense. AC managed two completions of 16 combined yards, forcing Costabile to take a timeout to change his defensive strategy. AC didn't line-up like that for the rest of the game, and on the third play of the series, Wilmington native Brian Corcoran pounced on a loose ball for a fumble recovery, giving the Rams the ball on the AC 31 yard line.

Stubbs took the first four carries and moved the ball to the 13, before Wilmington native Derek McLaren overthrew a receiver on his first pass attempt as the team's quarterback. That set up third-and-goal, but the ball was pushed back another five yards on a Rams penalty, before AC committed their own penalty moving the ball back to the 13, still third-and-goal. On the next play, McLaren threw off his back foot and completed a pass over the middle to a wide-open Pat McLaughlin who caught the team's first touchdown of the season, making it 6-0 in favor of the visitor's. Wilmington native Charlie Ward's PAT boot was wide.

Both teams would punt the ball over their next three possessions, thus ending the first half with Shawsheen ahead 6-0.

On the first play from scrimmage in the second half, Stubbs took off at the 37-yard line untouched into the end zone on a beautiful scamper, upping the lead to 12-0. McLaren ran in the two-point conversion on a bootleg to the right, making it 14-0.

AC would once again punt, and Stubbs caught the punt, and went backwards, sideways and up the field before being tackled at the 40-yard line, although he went about 80 yards in every direction. Three plays later after catching a few breaths, Stubbs went off right tackle for a 52-yard touchdown run. Ward's kick again was wide and the lead was 20-0 with 5:37 to go in the third quarter.

As if the game was a broken record, AC was forced to punt again on their next possession, and Shawsheen took over on their own 26 and marched up the field to score again. This time it was fullback Alex Fowler who bullied his way into the end zone from the 10-yard line. Ward's kick was good and the Rams lead comfortably 27-0.

AC did score with 32 seconds left to unleash the shutout, but that certainly was well too late as the Rams prevailed, 27-7.

"This is a great way to start the season off - especially after the six game losing streak we ended with last year. The kids believed in what we told them and none of them could have possibly worked any harder than they have to prepare for this game. I'm very proud of each and every one of them," said Costabile.

This Saturday, the non-league games continue for Shawsheen as they will travel to Lynnfield for an 11 am contest.

- This will be the first meeting for these two non-league teams.
- Wilmington defeated Lynnfield, 30-0, last year at Lynnfield.
- Shawsheen is coming off an 27-7 victory over non-league opponent Arlington Catholic on Saturday night. Senior running back Mike Stubbs rushed for 218 yards and scored two touchdowns. Wilmington native Derek McLaren, the team's starting quarterback, tossed a touchdown pass, and completed 2-of-5 passes for 21 yards. Lynnfield lost 28-6 on Friday night to Newburyport.
- Lynnfield is led by Dan Veinot, a pretty good running back, who stands at 5-11, 180 pounds.
- Lynnfield finished in last place in the Cape Ann League last year with an 2-9 record. They were winless at home, 0-6, but won two games on the road. They were outscored by an 258-97 margin. They are still very young as they were last season.
- Shawsheen's Charlie Ward, of Wilmington, struggled last week with PAT boots, 1-for-3, but did an outstanding job on kick-offs and punts. In five boots on kick-offs, the average placement the ball went to was the 16 yard line.
- Shawsheen's Brad Lawrenson, of Wilmington, played very well last week. He gave a crushing hit on Michael Hurley, on a kick-off return. He also played well in the secondary with several knock downs.
- Shawsheen has won its season opener in each of the three seasons Al Costabile has been on the sidelines as head coach.

Predictions get pretty tough with this weekend's games

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Naturally this upcoming weekend might as well as one of the greatest weekends of local football and of course I won't be here to witness it.

Instead of enjoying the first game under the lights for Wilmington on Friday, I'll be in Michigan at a rehearsal dinner for my friend's wedding. Instead of mowing down hotdogs on Saturday afternoon watching Tewksbury host the two-time Greater Boston League champs in Everett, I'll be escorting men and women down the aisles of a church for my friend's wedding just outside of Detroit, Michigan.

So I guess that means I can predict all three teams to win, make everyone happy because I won't be here to see any of it. If I were here this weekend, a prediction of one of the local teams losing, when they actually win wouldn't look so good in post game interviews.

Well last week I got off to a pretty good start, going 2-0 behind victories for Wilmington and Shawsheen. So what's in store for this week?

Wilmington

I don't think I would be well liked in the town if I get the guts to say that Wilmington will lose to Masconomet on their first game under the lights and first game at home. Do I think they will lose? No. Last week the 'Cats showed me a lot - their offensive line was very good, their offense was dominating in the first half, and their defense did a nice job pitching the shutout. But, to me North Andover's offense wasn't top notch to say the least. They had obvious troubles of throwing the ball, and their number one back Jeff Cruz got hurt in the first quarter. So to be the 'Cats defense played well, but didn't get a true test.

Masconomet always has a good team and always give the 'Cats trouble. But the last time Masco made the trip they trailed 14-0 and came out as winners. Wilmington should win this game - but I think this game will be a better test of what to expect from the 'Cats this year. I expect a big crowd and a big win, 35-6.

Shawsheen

The week before Wilmington played Lynnfield last year, I was on a vacation and my friend Jeff Nazzaro filled in for me doing this very same column. In his prediction of the 'Cats-Lynnfield game, he poked fun of me saying "this is a kind of game that would drive Pote crazy" because everyone knew that Lynnfield didn't have a chance to win, unless 20 Wildcat players got hurt in pre-season stretching drills. Wilmington did defeat a very young and inexperienced Lynnfield team, 30-0.

Shawsheen is coming off a nice 27-7 win over Arlington Catholic from last week. Mike Stubbs was sensational for the Rams. Lynnfield should be in the same category as AC, but smaller in physical size. I don't think Lynnfield will give them a game unless they have a few transfers I don't know about. I take Stubbs with another 100 plus yard game and several touchdowns over the Pioneers, 26-7.

Tewksbury

Last year several Tewksbury people weren't happy when I said they would lose their opening game to Everett, who was coming off a Super Bowl loss and had the best running back in the state. Tewksbury lost, despite playing very well but a few mistakes cost them.

Everett doesn't have Ferri this season, and they are coming a Super Bowl victory. From what insiders have told me, they have a lot of size and they basically have re-loaded for this season, but Tewksbury can certainly give them a run for their money. I like Tewksbury's chances a lot, but with status unknown of five injured starters for the Redmen of whether or not they will be ready for Saturday certainly raises concerns.

If those starters play, and new quarterback Ryan Davoren stands in the pocket with confidence and lets his abilities do the talking, I really like Tewksbury to pull out the victory. But it's not going to be easy at all. I think this will be a terrific ball game - too bad I won't be there to see it. Redmen barely hang on, 20-19.

Correction

In last week's edition of the Town Crier, this reporter inadvertently wrote that the last time a Wilmington High School football team made it to the Super Bowl was in 1979. That year was incorrect. The 1976 team made it to the Super Bowl and lost to Lynn Classical. Thus, it's been 24 years since a Wildcat football team has gone to the Super Bowl.

We apologize for the error and any confusion it may have caused. (Sp. Ed.)

Wilmington vs Masconomet

Friday, September 15th, 7:00 PM

at Alumni Field, Wilmington

Thumbnails

• Friday night's game will be the first ever game to be played under the lights at Wilmington High in school history. Opening ceremonies begin at 6 p.m with the game slated for 7 p.m.

• Wilmington defeated Masco in two of the last three years. In 1999, they won despite many mistakes, 14-6, on a cold and windy afternoon at Masco Regional High. Although quarterback Josh Hiltz didn't complete a pass, he played one of his best games ever, including a gorgeous 46-yard touchdown run despite a 6-man blitz coming at him. In 1998, Masco won 28-21 at WHS, coming back after a 14-0 deficit at halftime. In 1997, Wilmington won, 6-0, in the "IceBowl" game.

• Masconomet's better players include center Peter Rosati, a 6'0, 205-pounder, as well as defensive tackle Dan Leavitt, a 6'1, 240-pounder.

• Masconomet defeated defending Division 4-B Super Bowl winner Pentucket, 9-6, in a defensive battle in the last week's season opener. Quarterback Rob Dreesen tossed an 38-yard touchdown pass to Wayne Maribito for the team's lone score, as a second quarter safety ended up proving to be big for the Chieftains.

• Josh Hiltz seems to have Masconomet's number with a 46-yard touchdown run which was the game winning score in last week's game, and in 1998 he tossed two touchdown passes as a sophomore quarterback. Hiltz was 0-for-4 passing in last year's game, and 0-for-3 in last week's game, look for a big game from him this week at home.

• Wilmington ended last season as the co-champs of the league with Pentucket, a record of 9-1 in the Cape Ann League. They were 4-1 at home, 5-1 on the road, and outscored their opponents 277-71. Last week they defeated North Andover 27-0. Masconomet finished last season in fourth place, 7-4, overall. They were 2-3 at home and 5-1 on the road. They outscored their opponents 193-136.

Tewksbury vs Everett

Saturday, September 16th, 1:30 PM

at Doucette Field - John Wynn Middle

School, Tewksbury

Thumbnails

• This is the third straight season these two non-league teams have met up to open the season. Everett has won the first two meetings. In 1998, they defeated Tewksbury 28-14 at Doucette Field. Everett led just 7-0 at halftime, but broke it open in the second half. In 1999, Tewksbury paid a visit to Everett High and lost 35-21. Diamond Ferri, the state's best running back last year who is now at Syracuse University, led the Crimson Tide to a victory with 201 rushing yards on 19 carries while he scored three touchdowns. Tewksbury's quarterback Tom Sullivan, who has graduated, completed 11-of-23 passes in last year's game, including three touchdown strikes and two interceptions. Jay Wagstaff and Ryan Carlson had a TD score and both of them figured to be main attractions in the team's success this year.

• Everett is coming off two straight Division 1 Super Bowl appearances. In 1998, they lost to Xaverian on a last second field goal, in arguably one of the better high school Super Bowl games to remember. Last year they destroyed Barnstable, behind Ferri, who although was sick, had over 200 rushing yards in the first half alone.

• Tewksbury finished third overall in last year's Merrimack Valley Conference behind Billerica and Chelmsford. The Redmen were 7-3 overall, going 4-1 at home and 3-2 on the road. They outscored their opponents 231-133 (210-98 after Everett).

• The Redmen have a new quarterback in Ryan Davoren, who'll be making his first varsity start on Saturday.

• Tewksbury's new beautiful field house will be on display, as its almost completely finished.
